THE COMMONWEALTH.

END CAME QUIETLY.

The Kentucky Legislature Adjourned Sine Die at Midnight.

Frankfort, March 16.—Senate—The Kentucky legislature has adjourned sine die. The end came quietly and peacefully shortly before the "witching hours of midnight." The senate Tuesday passed the bill appropriating $2,500 for a monument to the Kentucky soldiers under Gen. Green Clay who were killed near old Fort Meigs, in Ohio, in 1813. House amendments to the county game warden bill were concurred in, and the bill passed as amended. The house bill to allow a deputy clerk to practice as an attorney in courts other than that in which he is a deputy was defeated. The house amendments to the bill making more specific the fees of county and circuit clerks were concurred in. The house bill to punish any one who draws or flourishes a pistol or other deadly weapon in a passenger coach or train, passed.

House—Bills passed: Senate bill appropriating $400 for repairing the monument over President Zachary Taylor's grave in Jefferson; senate bill, which originally appropriated $75,000 for the A. and M. college, but which was so amended as to provide only $25,000; senate bill, which appropriates $15,000 annually in addition to the present annuity for regular expenses of the A. and M. college; senate bill, providing for the collection of revenues in Beckham county, just as in other counties of the state; senate bill, appropriating $15,600 for the Eastern asylum. The original bill provided for $42,000; senate bill, prohibiting the selling of liquor at wholesale in local option districts.

CONTRACTOR J. W. BESS.

Twice Doomed For the Murder of Mrs. Martha Martin.

Lexington, Ky., March 16.—The jury in the case of J. W. Bess, the local contractor charged with the murder of Mrs. Martha Martin in this city a year ago, Tuesday afternoon rendered a verdict of guilty and assessed his punishment at death. This was the second trial, the death penalty having been imposed in the first trial.

In presenting its side of the case the commonwealth introduced a letter from the defendant to Mrs. Mary Porter, of this city, threatening her son with a criminal prosecution unless he would testify that he saw Mrs. Martin, the murdered woman, at the house of a Negro woman with a stranger the night before the murder. The other surprise came when the defense announced that it would offer no testimony, and refused to place the defendant on the stand. After the verdict had been read and Bess taken back to jail he roundly denounced his attorneys and alleged that they bungled the case by not permitting him to testify.

Against the Divorce Evil.

Paducah, Ky., March 16.—At the meeting of the Ministerial association a resolution on the subject of divorce was adopted, and a pulpit crusade will probably be waged against divorces. The resolution will not be given for publication until next week, but it is said to contain a strong arraignment of the divorce evil as it exists locally, with facts and figures to back up the charges.

Louisville, Ky., March 16.—Hugh Higgins, a popular young man, son of William Higgins, editor of the Irish-American, was found dead with a bullet in his brain at the office of the Irish-American Tuesday morning. TRUE SOUTHERN COURAGE.

Confederate Daughters Continue Meeting in a House Which Was on Fire.

Louisville, Ky., March 17.—True southern courage was shown Wednesday afternoon by members of the Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, meeting with Mrs. Basil W. Duke, when they proceeded with routine business undisturbed by the fact that the attic of Gen. Duke's residence was aflame and three fire engines were pumping streams into the blaze. The fire involved the possible loss not only of a historic home, but of a collection of antique furniture, portraits and heirlooms which is priceless. Mrs. Duke, a sister of the noted confederate cavalry raider, Gen. John H. Morgan, calmly advised the members of the order to proceed with the election of officers, as the firemen would attend to the fire. The loss was slight.

NONE VETOED OR APPROVED.

Bills Passed By the Legislature Not Acted Upon By the Governor.

Frankfort, Ky., March 17.—Gov. Beckham did not approve, nor veto, Wednesday any of the large number of bills on his desk. The one known as the "McInerney bill" is still in his hands and he has nine more days, under the constitution, in which to dispose of it, and all others that come to his hands during the last ten days of the session. It has been urged in some quarters that the "McInerney bill" is unconstitutional, but it is not known if the governor takes that view of it.

THE CITY IN ARREARS.

The Water Supply of Harrodsburg, Ky., Was Cut Off Wednesday.

Harrodsburg, Ky., March 17.—The water supply of the city was cut off Wednesday by the Harrodsburg Water Co. shutting down its plant. Sick Blood

Feed pale girls on Scott's Emulsion.

We do not need to give all the reasons why Scott's Emulsion restores the strength and flesh and color of good health to those who suffer from sick blood.

The fact that it is the best preparation of Cod Liver Oil, rich in nutrition, full of healthy stimulation is a suggestion as to why it does what it does.

Scott's Emulsion presents Cod Liver Oil at its best, fullest in strength, least in taste.

Young women in their "teens" are permanently cured of the peculiar disease of the blood which shows itself in paleness, weakness and nervousness, by regular treatment with Scott's Emulsion.

It is a true blood food and is naturally adapted to the cure of the blood sickness from which so many young women suffer.

We will be glad to send a sample to any sufferer.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

CORONER IS NOT SATISFIED.

A Divorced Wife Dies From a Pistol Shot Wound in Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., March 18.—While her mother was down-stairs to answer a supposed knock at the door, Miss Elsie Gray, a well-known society girl, was shot through the head and died before physicians could be summoned. The family say the shooting was an accident and that Miss Gray knocked the pistol from the mantel in dusting the room. While the coroner gave a verdict of accidental death, he said circumstances pointed to suicide. Two years ago the girl was found in her room nearly dead from escaping gas. She eloped to Cincinnati four years ago and married E. H. Demoss, from whom she was divorced two years afterward.

DIED FROM A FALL.

He Had Engaged in a Scuffle With Another Asylum Inmate.

Lexington, Ky., March 18.—It came to light that the death of Silas Cliff two weeks ago at the Eastern insane asylum was the result of a broken hip, sustained in a scuffle with another inmate of the institution. Cliff was 82 years of age and was brought here from May's Lick, where he had been cared for by his aged wife. She fell and fractured her hip and could no longer attend to Cliff, and he was placed in the saylum. It is not known whether the coroner will hold an inquest or not.

THRO' KENTUCKY.

Thro' that grand state of Kentucky.
Where the "Old Home" got its name,
Where the fields are overflowing
With the yellow ripening grain,

Here tobacco plants are growing,
In the fields not sown with corn,
Tobacco plants—big as cactus—
Just as sure as you are born.

Yes they're large as good-sized cactus,
Larger in our home-like view,
But it's of as fine a grade as
Is that old "Kentucky Dew."

Here all people reap a harvest,
Money in bank from year to year.
All the green calamity howlers,
Lose their jobs when they land here.

Here the "dry" ways are the highways,
Built high and dry from rains and flood.
Here the "good roads delegation,"
Swear the roads are sutt'nly good,

But of pikes and highways finest,
There's a "roads" that suits my taste;
'Tis the line of Solid Comfort,
And the trains let no time waste.

From Kentucky to St. Louis,
Operates this road of class,
Across the famous old "Green River"
On its roadbed smooth as glass.

Would you know what road I speak of?
Listen then to my advice,
For you'll need it in your business,
On your trip to Paradise.

In your travels to St. Louis—
Hustle: beat them under the wire.
"Get the 'Henderson Route' habit"—
'Tis a good one to acquire.

It is said that he will make other investments in that city. Mr. Pope has for years traveled for Johnson Hardware Company, of Cincinnati, and as a knight of the grip made quite a success, upon which his friends congratulate him heartily.

"OUR CLOTHING FITS"

Making Preparations.

Messrs. B. W. Turner and R. C. Stockton. both prominent members of local lodge of Elks, went to Cincinnati last week to make arrangements for the accommodation of this lodge at the reunion which will be held in July It is probable that the lodge will secure quarters at the Grand hotel.

Last Opportunity.

Our recent clubbing proposition having proved so successful to all parties concerned, we have decided to continue to offer until April 4, County Court day The Climax and weekly Courier-Journal, both one year, for the small sum of $1.25. This is positively the last opportunity that will be offered this year to secure these papers at price named.

New Stock.

Mrs. Ella Farley wishes to say to her friends that her trimmer, Miss Finney, has arrived and already she is showing some beautiful creations in the way of spring hats. She will have no formal opening, but her stock which is complete and up to date, is on display at any time. It will afford her great pleasure to have her friends call and see her line. Her rooms are in the same place, in the Oldham building.

Amusements.

The Wilbur Mack Company closed a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House on last Saturday night, at which time they presented "The Country Judge." They played to a good house all week which attests to the popularity of this splendid comedian and his excellent troupe. Mrs. B. H. Howe formerly Miss Grace Taylor, of this city, is a member of this company and showed considerable talent in her acting. They are playing in Frankfort this week, and we are sure they will meet with a hearty welcome. Their return to our city will be a source of pleasure at any time.

Will Move to Franklin.

It is with regret that their many friends learn of the intended removal of Mr. E. G. Parrish and family from this city to Franklin county. Mr. Parrish has for quite a number of years, been in the revenue service, proving himself most capable. His removal is caused by his appointment as Superintendant of Colonel Moores' distilleries near Frankfort. His new position pays a handsome salary, and we congratulate Mr. Parrish upon his good luck. He left Monday to assume his new duties, Mrs. Parrish and her two handsome boys will go in the course of a month or two. It will be hard for their friends to give up this estimable family, but the best wishes will follow them to their new home.

Cried When She Heard of the Marriage.

The secret wedding of Miss Daisy Clark, 22 of 638 West Fourth street, to William Hinman, 27, of Charlottesville, Va., Monday night at the residence of Rev. C. W. Blodgett, 545 West Seventh street, developed Wednesday.

It was a case of love at first sight. Miss Ella Clark, a married sister, said Wednesday: "I was never so surprised in all my life. Hinman had called to see my sister for about a year, and I knew they were engaged, but did not expect them to marry so soon They came home Monday night and broke the news to us. It was such a surprise that I just sat down and cried."

Hinman is a member of a prominent family of Charlottsville, Va., and his bride is the daughter of Richard Clark of Richmond, Ky., a well known Kentucky live stock man.

Hinman is a traveling salesman for an Eastern firm, and met Miss Clark when on a business trip to Cincinnati.

They are stopping at the Hotel Emery, and will leave Saturday for the East.—Cincinnati Post.

Mr. Clark, the father of the bride is a well known farmer of the Kirksville neighborhood, and was likewise greatly surprised to hear of his daughter's marriage.

Praise Service.

On next Sunday evening there will be a praise service at the First Presbyterian church, given under the auspices of the Foreign Missionary Society of the church. A delightful musical program, consisting of anthems, duets, solos etc. has been arranged, and on which the choir has been working for quite awhile. The choir will be assisted by Misses Minnie Dykes, and Kate Smith and Mrs. H. B. Hanger. It is earnestly hoped that a good crowd will attend this service as it is for a good cause. All lovers of good music can't afford to miss it.

In Line

One of Richmond's most hustling merchants is Mr. E. V. Elder. His stock of new spring goods was never more complete. He is in line with all the newest styles. Miss Nellie Donelly is at the head of the millinery department, which fact alone, insures stylish and nobby designs in ladies and children's hats. Mr. Elder has one of the neatest, roomiest and most up to date stores in the city. His stock comprises dry goods, notions of all kinds millinery, shoes, clothing, curtains, carpets, rugs and other things too numerous to mention. Watch for his mammoth advertisement which will appear in our next issue.

It will be gratifying to the numerous friends of Mrs. W. T. Griggs to know that she is convalescent from a recent illness.

DEATHS

SHIPP.—The sad news which reached here last Thursday, announcing the death of Mrs. H. C. Shipp of Cynthiana was hard to believe and caused great sorrow among her many friends. She had been ill for a week or more and on Wednesday she was taken to St. Joseph's hospital in Lexington where it was thought an operation for appendicitis might be necessary. However it was soon found that she could not undergo an operation, her strength failing her rapidly, and at four o'clock Thursday morning her soul winged its flight to eternity. Mrs. Shipp was formerly Miss Jennie Ferrell of this place and was the daughter of the late Captain Thomas and Mrs. Bettie Ferrill. She was 29 years old and and was an unusually handsome and attractive woman. In 1896 she became the wife of Mr. H. C. Shipp, since which time she has resided in Lexington, Georgetown and Cynthiana. She was noted for her many acts of kindess and deeds of charity. It was only last Christmas that she made many a poor home brighter by her remembrances. Before her marriage, she was saleslady for Mr. W D. Oldham in this city and was extremely popular with a large circle of friends. Besides her husband and one beautiful little daughter, she is survived by her mother and the following sisters and brothers:

Spencer, of Lexington, after which her remains were laid to rest in Battle Grove Cemetery.

A Letter of Sympathy.

The following beautiful letter of tender sympathy was received by Mrs. Durrett White, of Clay City, from Mr. Vernon L. Vaughn, of Phoenix Arizona. Mrs. White is a widow of the late lamented Professor Durrett White, whose death was such a sad blow to his many friends and admirers. Mr. Vaughn was for about ten years County clerk of Estill and was highly respected and honored by the people of that section. His letter is complimentary and justly so, and as we read it our hearts bleed anew over the untimely death of our beloved friend. The following is the letter, for which we are greatly indebted to Mrs. White for its use:

Phoenix Arizona,
March 9th, 1904,

Mrs. Durrett White,
Clay City Ky.

My Dear Mrs. White:—Having just read in the Clay City Times of the death of your husband, I hasten to extend to you and your family my deepest sympathy in your sad bereavement. From my first acquaintance with Mr. White in the year 1881, when it was my good fortune to be a pupil in his school, there always existed between us the warmest and most loyal friendship. His supreme honesty, genial traits and superior attainments will continue to live, though his great spirit has passed beyond. It is sad and unfortunate that his resourceful brain is forever numbed and his pen, from which emanated so many brilliant and instructive productions, to gladden and enlighten the hearts and souls of humanity, has been laid away for the last time. In his untimely death, my dear madam I deeply mourn the loss of a dearest and most valued friend. That providence may ever guide and protect the bereaved widow and sorrowing children, I beg to remain faithfully,

Your Friend
VERNON L. VAUGHN.

FAIR NEARLY READY

Activity Everywhere in Evidence at Greatest of World's Fairs.

All the Exhibit Palaces Are Practically Completed—The Pike Costs Over $5,000,000—Thousands of Men Engaged in Landscape Work.

February finds the World's Fair City donning the finishing touches of splendor that will greet the eyes of the millions of visitors on April 30, the opening day.

A bird's-eye view of the sight causes the observer to express surprise at the forward state of everything pertaining to the enterprise. He sees the central picture almost as it will be when the throbbing machinery shall be set in motion. The palaces of Varied Industries, Machinery, Manufacture, Mines and Metallurgy, Education and Electricity, Liberal Arts and Transportation need little if anything to place them in readiness for the time when the world shall seek admission.

The Colonnade of States has become a magnificent reality, and immediately in its central front rises the Festival Hall, whose massive dome reaches skyward 200 feet and is larger than any in the world. Behind the Colonnade, clothed in architectural magnificence, is the permanent Art Building of white stone. One sees the lagoons completed and also the ways where great cascades will leap down the terrace.

And in an equally advanced stage is the second picture, which has the giant Palace of Agriculture as its central figure, with the Palaces of Horticulture and Forestry, Fish and Game as noble adjuncts. Here a rose garden, covering six acres of ground, has been planted; here the great floral clock has been installed, and the plants that will serve as numerals are ready to be taken from the greenhouses; here again has been outlined the map of the United States, in which each commonwealth will be represented by the vegetable life for which it is prominent in the world of commerce; and here also ponds are formed for the lotus of the Nile and the lily of the Amazon, flowers that will slumber in nurseries of tropical heat until the warm rays of spring permit their transplanting.

CENTRAL TOWERS, PALACE OF MACHINERY, WORLD'S FAIR, ST. LOUIS.

In the district known as the Terrace of States buildings have risen as if by magic. No boom town ever grew with the rapidity shown in this wooded area. In the immediate neighborhood, a leviathan of steel arches, is the United States Government building, in which are now being installed the curios from the Smithsonian Institution. The Army and Navy displays, and others equally interesting, have been sent from Washington and are now being put in place.

Great Britain's structure is practically completed, and the material used in construction is so similar to that in the famous Orangery that visitors from the little isle might well imagine themselves home again when in its vicinity; Le Grand Trianon of France has taken perfect shape; Germany's castle is practically finished; Mexico's pretty home has long been completed; Chinese and Japanese workmen are on the ground, adding the delicate finishing touches to their creations; Belgium is keeping contractors busy; and so one might continue to enumerate until a sentence would be given to every nation in the world.

Over where Arrowhead Lake will furnish a delightful retreat for those who enjoy boating a band of Filipinos are working in native woods in their curious way and forming a village. Near them are Hawaiians, similarly engaged, and men from Porto Rico and the territory of Uncle Sam in Samoa.

In every portion of the twelve hundred and forty acres are landscape artists with their forces—hundreds, yes thousands of men—who are rolling lawns into smoothness, forming beauty spots of flowers and decorating pathways.

Activity is the watchword on the Pike, as well as elsewhere on the grounds, and the many houses of pleasure which amusement caterers from every part of the globe are preparing for the visitors will be in readiness before the Fair opens. Eighty-five concessions have been granted so far, and five million dollars will be expended in these by the projectors before a cent will be taken in at the doors. Even this great sum does not represent the total amount that will be invested.

A RACE WITH DEATH.

It Was Won By a Little Girl By the Delaying of a Train.

Lexington, Ky., March 25.—A race with death was won by Ruth Miles, a 5-year-old girl from Hyden, Thursday night, by delaying the L. & E. train from Jackson, a half hour. Hyden is a remote mountain town. Physicians announced Tuesday morning that the child's life could be saved only by having an operation performed on her lungs in a Lexington hospital. A flat boat was procured and the little girl with her entire family floated down the Kentucky river to Jackson, a distance of 60 miles. They were 51 hours on the water. They saw that they would be a half hour late in reaching the railroad station and telephoned for the train to wait, which was done. Physicians said Thursday night that a day's delay in reaching Lexington would perhaps have cost the child its life.

A CRUEL DEED.

Hung a Little Son in a Bag and Kindled a Fire Under Him.

Paducah, Ky., March 25.—Grant Howard, a Negro, committed the most cruel deed early Thursday ever recorded in local police circles here. He took his 10-year-old son, Leroy, and placed him in a sack and tied the sack with its contents to a rafter in the stable. He apparently kindled a large fire under the hanging bulk and left for the city. The boy's screams attracted people. He was cut down and was unable to talk for five minutes. Then he explained that his papa had treated him so barbarously because he wanted to sleep with him.

The father is charged with malicious assault with intent to kill and attempted arson.

Howard is being closely guarded, as he is in danger of being lynched.

Investigating Goble Damage.

Catlettsburg, Ky., March 25.—N. C. Pharis, representing underwriters of Cincinnati, is here with two divers investigating the damage done to the M. B. Goble when she sank in the mouth of Sandy river last week. No bodies were found in the boat, they having been washed away by the Ohio. The Goble will be raised as soon as the tools and barges arrive here from Cincinnati.

Family Poisoned From Garlic.

Owingsville, Ky., March 25.—The family of Allen Pergram, of the eastern part of this county, have been in a critical condition, it is said, from being poisoned by eating garlic gathered in the garden. It is supposed a poisonous weed was gathered with the garlic.

Shot Himself in the Temple.

Lexington, Ky., March 25.—D. Robertson Dunlop, who was engaged in the real estate business in Washington, D. C., but whose parents reside in this city, committed suicide at the Phoenix hotel here by shooting himself in the right temple with a revolver.

The Jury Failed to Agree.

Louisville, Ky., March 25.—The jury failed to agree in the case of Louis A. Darnal, of Meade county, charged with sending obscene letters through the mails to Miss Rose M. Allen, of the same county. The case will be tried again at the next term of the court.

Left Valuable Estate.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., March 25.—John C. McBrayer, son of the late W. S. McBrayer, who died at his home near here, qualified as administrator of the estate in the Anderson county court. The estate is variously estimated to be worth from $150,000 to $250,000.

Section Foreman Drowned.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 25.—William Cox, section foreman on the Illinois Central railroad, was knocked from a car loaded with cross-ties by a tie on which he was sitting, striking the abutment of a bridge. He fell in the river and was drowned.

Steamer Went Over the Dam.

Bowling Green, Ky., March 25.—The steamer Mystic, property of A. Scott Hines & Co., in the upper Green river trade, went over the dam at Woodbury. The captain jumped and swam ashore. The pilot and engineer remained at their posts.

RUTS

The walking sick, what a crowd of them there are: Persons who are thin and weak but not sick enough to go to bed.

"Chronic cases" that's what the doctors call them, which in common English means—long sickness.

To stop the continued loss of flesh they need Scott's Emulsion. For the feeling of weakness they need Scott's Emulsion.

It makes new flesh and gives new life to the weak system.

Scott's Emulsion gets thin and weak persons out of the rut. It makes new, rich blood, strengthens the nerves and gives appetite for ordinary food.

Scott's Emulsion can be taken as long as sickness lasts and do good all the time.

There's new strength and flesh in every dose.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

Shots Fired From Ambush at a Young Kentucky Farmer.

Lexington, Ky., March 24.—An unsuccessful attempt was made to assassinate Llwyn Sharp, jr., at his home near Athens, in this county, Wednesday night. As he came to the door about dark five shots were fired at him. Guided by the light from the flash of the pistol Sharp fired twice in return, but it is not known if any one was shot. One month ago Sharp shot and killed Griggs Hopper, white, and Ed Waite, a Negro, while they were in the act of stealing his corn, and for which the grand jury, which is now in session, refused to indict him. Since being dismissed in that case there has been a strong feeling in the neighborhood, and Wednesday night's shooting is believed to have been done by friends of the dead men.

CLAIMS SELF-DEFENSE.

The Young Man Says That Kratzenberger Attacked Him.

Louisville, Ky., March 24.—Dennis Kratzenberger was shot and killed by a man said to be William M. Finley, who, the friends of Kratzenberger declare, came between him and the object of his affections, Mrs. Belle Lansford, of 745 East Green street. Finley when arrested admitted that he did the shooting. At the jail Finley declared that he never knew Kratzenberger. He said that he formerly boarded with Mrs. Lansford, and had gone to her house Tuesday night to see her sick daughter, and that Kratzenberger attacked him.

BANK SUED FOR TAXES.

The Suit Involves Taxes on Deposits For Five Years.

Madisonville, Ky., March 24.—State Revenue Agent Frank A. Lucas, in his crusade against the private banks of the state, has had suits filed here against Morton's bank, Hopkins county bank, Kentucky Bank and Trust Co., all of Madisonville; Earlington bank, Earlington, Ky.; Citizens' bank, of Nebo and the Bank of Dawson, Dawson Springs, Ky. The suits involve the payment of state and county taxes on deposits for five years back. About $25,000 is involved.

Representative Day Stricken.

Lexington, Ky., March 24.—Carl Day, representative of Breathitt county in the last legislature, and who achieved widespread reputation as the author of the Berea college bill which prohibited coeducation of whites and blacks in this state, was brought to the hospital in this city Wednesday suffering from a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

Smallpox Cases at Springfield.

Springfield, Ky., March 24.—Much uneasiness is experienced at this place on account of the announcement of several cases of smallpox. A great portion of the town has been exposed. The county authorities have contracted for two small houses to be built at once on the county farm near town.

Will Meet at Paducah.

Paducah, Ky., March 24.—It is announced here that the Gideons, an organization of Christian traveling men, will hold their state convention in Paducah May 8. There are very few of them here, but a national organizer from Chicago is expected to organize them in this section of the state.

THRO' KENTUCKY.

Thro' that grand state of Kentucky.
  Where the "Old Home" got its name,
Where the fields are overflowing
  With the yellow ripening grain,

Here tobacco plants are growing,
  In the fields not sown with corn,
Tobacco plants—big as cactus—
  Just as sure as you are born.

Yes they're large as good-sized cactus,
  Larger in our home-like view,
But it's of as fine a grade as
  Is that old "Kentucky Dew."

Here all people reap a harvest.
  Money in bank from year to year.
All the green calamity howlers,
  Lose their jobs when they land here.

Here the "dry" ways are the highways,
  Built high and dry from rains and flood.
Here the "good roads delegation,"
  Swear the roads are sutt'nly good,

But of pikes and highways finest,
  There's a "roads" that suits my taste;
'Tis the line of Solid Comfort,
  And the trains let no time waste.

From Kentucky to St. Louis,
  Operates this road of class,
Across the famous old "Green River"
  On its roadbed smooth as glass.

Would you know what road I speak of?
  Listen then to my advice,
For you'll need it in your business,
  On your trip to Paradise.

In your travels to St. Louis—
  Hustle: beat them under the wire.
"Get the 'Henderson Route' habit"—
  'Tis a good one to acquire.

—JACK "HENDERSON" GALLAGHER

BIRTHS.

LUXON.—A pretty little girl arrived on last Thursday to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Ballard H. Luxon. She has been christened Mary Elizabeth The happy parents have the congratulations of their many friends over this addition to their family.

CROOKE.—News comes from Meeker, Colorada, of the birth of a fine daughter to Professor and Mrs. O. C. Crooke. This will be pleasant news to the friends of the proud young father, who is a native of this county, being a brother of Hon. Harris Crooke, of this city.

ELDER.—Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Elder are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter, on last Thursday morning.

At the Grand.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, the Julians and the Columbus Stock Company will appear at the Grand Opera House in a repertoire of high class plays. This company comes to Richmond with the best of recommendations of both press and public and should not be confounded with other repertoire companies presenting a lot of worn out plays, but productions that have had long runs in the larger cities. Tuesday night the melodrama of heart interest, "The Other Woman," was presented. Wednesday night Edith Julian will present a sumptuous production of Mrs. Leslie Carter's great play, "Du Barry," for the first time in Richmond. This play had a run of 150 nights in New York City, and will no doubt be well received here. The prices during the engagement will be 25, 35 and 50 cents. Seats on sale at E. C. Wines' drug store.

Elk Officers.

On last Friday night the regular weekly session of the Elks' Lodge was held, at which time the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Exalted Ruler, J. Tevis Cobb; Esteemed Leading Knight, W. S. Moberley; Esteemed Loyal Knight, R. B. Terrill; Esteemed Lecturing Knight, W. R. Shackelford; Secretary, A. B. Faris; Treasurer, L P. Evans, and Trustee, T. J. Smith. The new Exalted Ruler, Mr. J Tevis Cobb, is too well known here to need an introduction on our part. His election has been a source of much pleasure, not only to his brother Elks, but to his host of friends as well. He is one of Richmond's brightest lawyers, big hearted and generous and is in every way thoroughly capable of filling the high office to which he has been elected. He assumed his new duties amid the loud cheers of the lodge and in response made a most beautiful address which was greatly enjoyed by his hearers. At the same time too much cannot be said in praise of the retiring Exalted Ruler, Hon. Jerre Sullivan, who for the past two years has filled the office in an enviable manner. His services to the lodge have been inestimable and by his love and loyalty to his order he has endeared himself to all members. To him and his untiring interest is due much success of the lodge. He will always be considered as one of the leading members of Lodge No. 581.

DEATHS

LALOR.—Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lalor have the sympathy of their friends over the loss of their two months old infant, whose death occured last week.

DEISS.—News came from Texas last week, announcing the death of Mr. Joseph Deiss. Deceased was only eighteen years old, and his death was due to typhoid-pneumonia. His death is particularly sad, in that he was in the rosy flush of young man-hood. He was much beloved for his manly traits and his early demise is a source of deep regret to a large circle of friends. His remains were taken to Durrant Indian Territory for interment. Deceased was a nephew of Hon. Jerre A. Sullivan and Miss Mary Sullivan of this city.

LANE.—William Lane died last Saturday at the home of his brother Shelton Lane near Kingston. Deceased was 77 years old and was a much respected citizen. When yet a young man he moved to Illinois where he amassed quite a fortune. About ten years ago, however, he returned to Silver Creek to live, on account of his wife's health. She preceded him to the grave six years ago. Mr. Lane's estate in Illinois is valued at from $50 000 to $100,000. He was an honored member of the Richmond blue lodge of Masons and was buried by that order here Sunday afternoon.

Parrish.—Leona, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Parrish, of Decater Illinois, died last week from the effects of burns received from an exploding lamp. At the time of the accident she was alone in a room, but her screams soon attracted members of the family, who succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not until the little victim was horribly burned. She lingered several days, with the flesh from half of her body burned off. Her death is a great shock to her parents and relatives. Her father is a son of Mr. S. Parrish, and formerly lived here. The parents and relatives have the sympathy of all in their affliction.

A Woman's Views.

At 17 she said: "I want a man who is ardent in all of love's ways, and whose passionate devotion may never flag. He must be tall, broad shouldered and handsome, with dark, flashing, soulful eyes, and if need be, go to the end of the world for my sake."

At 20 she said: "I want a man who unites the tender sympathy of a woman with the bravery of a lion, I don't mind his being a little dissipated, because that always adds a charm. He must be, however, accomplished to the last degree, and capable of any sacrifice for my sake."

At 25 she said: "I want a man who unites with an engaging personality a complete knowledge of the world, and if necessary, he happens to have a past, he must always have a future; a man with whom I can trust myself at any time without the slightest embarassment."

At 30 she said: "I want a man with money. He can have any other attributes that a man ought to possess, but he must have money, and the more he has the better I will like it."

At 35 she said: "I want a man."

In Search of Antiques.

Mrs. William B. Carothers, of Louisville, was in the city last week in the interest of the Kentucky Building, she being one of the lady superintendents. Her work is to gather odd and quaint relics of this State, the same to be placed on exhibition during the Fair. All kinds of antiques in needle work, also modern work, consisting of drawn and lace work, crochet, bead work, knitting, home made quilts, blankets, etc. All interesting souvenirs of the pioneer days are very much desired. The greatest of care will be taken of all articles, those of an especially delicate nature being placed under a glass case. Mrs. Carothers visited different places in the county and felt very much encouraged by her visit here. She is making a thorough canvass of the State and will leave soon to take up her work in the Kentucky Building. We trust our State will excell in such exhibits and that our State building at the great fair will be beautiful with the handiwork and rare relics of Kentucky. All articles sent for this purpose should be addressed thus: "Woman's Department Kentucky World's Fair Commission, Haldeman Warehouse, Louisville, Ky."

Something to Be Proud Of.

Among the many things our city can boast of, nothing deserves more mention than the greenhouses conducted by Albert Reichspfarr. Not many towns the size of Richmond have an industry of this kind, especially one run on as extensive a scale. At Albert's can be found all kinds of flowers—blooming plants, beautiful and stately palms, ferns, asparagus and so on. Albert can furnish the most beautiful designs and cut flowers on short notice. It is a strange fact that people will send away to Lexington and other places to get floral designs and boxes of flowers, when the same things can be gotten right here at home. Our motto is "to patronize home industries," and unless we do this how can we expect such to thrive and remain with us? A walk out through Albert's greenhouses would be enough to show one that he can supply any kind of flower wished for. His prices are far more reasonable than those charged by city florists, not considering expressage. We trust, now that Easter is here at hand, that our people will remember Albert and give him their order for Easter boxes and bouquets. He is a gentleman in every sense of the word; his dealings are thoroughly upright and honest and he deserves the patronage of the home people. This is a home industry and if not supported by home people by whom will it be supported? And if it is not supported how can we expect it to remain in our midst? So do not send away for flowers, but give Albert your order, he will treat you right.

Good Company.

The Carroll Comedy Company closed a week's engagement at Barlow's Hall, Saturday night. This organization is far above the average repertoire company, and crowded houses greeted them at every performance. The work of Baby Hope, the child entertainer, was especially commendable, while the specialties of Gordon McDowell and the comedy sketch team, Oskara and Orapetza, were much enjoyed.—Georgetown News.

This company will be at the Grand Opera House all of next week, beginning Monday night. They have received the highest endorsement of the press, wherever they have shown, and in every way is above the ordinary run of repertoire companies.

Resolutions.

The Baptist Sunday school was very much grieved on last Sunday morning when Mrs. H. T Daniel stated that inasmuch as she had accepted a position with the D. & D. Institute, at Danville, it became necessary for her to offer her resignation both as teacher and treasurer of the Sunday school. Mrs Daniel has had charge of the infant class for fifteen years. During these years she has had under her training scores of children who will rise up in the last day and call her "blessed," and heaven will be the brighter to her as she shall meet them one by one.

Therefore, be it Resolved,

1st. That in the loss of Sister Daniel the Sunday school loses one of its best and most faithful workers—one whose life is above reproach.

2nd. That we commend her without reservation to the people of Danville.

3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the record book of our Sunday school; also a copy be furnished Sister Daniel, and one sent to our county papers for publication.

"CHANGE sweepeth over all." says the poet; yet how apt we are to forget the truth and think that "to-morrow shall be as to-day." It is not a thought to make one morbid; the rather should it cause the earnest man to hold up his head for joy, since he knows that the change that shall have taken place when the morrow shall have come may be one to give him cause for self-gratulation, since it marks an onward step. Forward or backward, such is the nature of the change that sweeps over us all, restlessly, unceasingly, day in and day out, from the first moments to the last of our existence. And with us who are workers rests the burden; nay, not the burden, but the happiness of making each day count for advance. As the minutes make up the hours, so does each separate task added to all the others of the day make up the record of the day, which can never be altered in after years Then how great the obligation to use our best thought, our fullest powers, in each separate duty! How great the responsibility to use each opportunity as it passes before us

We must grasp and use. When your day's work is done you are a different entity, a different I from what you were when you started your work that day. What you have done has become a part of your record; what you have gained has become a part of your new self; what you have lost has left you so much the poorer for wasted opportunity. The application of this little preachment is to make your work count in yourself, by putting your best in it."

A BEAUTIFUL object lesson in the tariff for the American people is in the contract of a steel mill in the United States to deliver at Montreal 40,000 tons of rails for the Canadian Pacific Railway at $21 25 a ton. This, allowing for cost of delivery, is $18 a ton at the mills, or $10 a ton less than the cost to American purchasers of steel rails at the mill. The contract price to the Canadian Pacific Railway left a margin of fair profit for the manufacturers, and all that is above this price is an iniquitous extortion upon American consumers which can be practiced only under cover of a shamefully exorbitant tariff. How long will the colossal iniquity be endured by the American people?—Philadelpha Record.

IT costs the Japanese about $950,000 for every hour its war ships bombard Port Arthur. This fleet carries a total of 17 12-inch guns and 186 3-inch guns, besides numerous torpedo tubes and small guns. The 12-inch monsters can be fired every five minutes and last only 300 charges, while the 8-inch guns can be discharged every two minutes and the 6-inch guns in one-half that time, and the 3-inch guns can be fired every 30 seconds The shells cost from $6 to $510 and torpedos from $2,500 to $5,000. This gives some idea of the enormous cost of modern armaments and modern projectiles Should the war be prolonged it will bankrupt both powers, not taking in consideration the terrible loss of life and work of devastation.

A Law Which if Passed Would have Benefited Richmond Greatly.

Just now when the City Council is busying itself in the introduction of a business-like system of municipal accounting, it may be interesting to read the correspondence that ensued between Governor Beckham and Mr Clarence E. Woods, of this city, on the subject of a law which Mr. Woods entreated the Governor to recommend in his message to the late Legislature, by which not only Richmond, but every municipality in Kentucky would have been able to save thousands of dollars. Simply through adopting a universal and standard method of apportioning, expending and accounting public funds collected by taxation, cities may regulate their financial affairs as banks do. But where no two cities in a State have the same system of accounting there is no comprehensive method of keeping records, as each city is a law to itself and all is chaos when it comes to making out a statement. It is not the fault of the clerks but of the system, or rather lack of system, that has been allowed to grow up.

But this is the way Mr. Woods' recommendations to Governor Beckham were commended and endorsed by that eminent Chicago Journal. "Public Policy," which is devoted to the "Correct Undsrstanding of Public Questions," and edited by Hon. Allen R. Foote, of Columbus, Ohio, who says in his issue of January 30:

UNIFORM PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FOR KENTUCKY

"When public men take the position that a good measure for the general welfare, morally and economically sound, is a good measure to be placed to the credit of their party and administration, regardless of the source from which it emanates, good measures will more frequently be enacted into law. Such a position is in accord with the requirements of intelligent honesty and of justice to the people represented.

"In the correspondence following there is gratifying evidence of the growth of a healthy public sentiment in this regard. Mr. Woods, in addressing the Governor of Kentucky on the subject of uniform public accounting, puts the case exactly right, and the response of the Governor is in a spirit that should commend itself to all chief executives of State. If now Kentucky does not gain the benefits that are inherent in a uniform system of accounting, prescribed and audited by State authority, the people must hold these representatives who failed to vote for the measure responsible for their neglect of duty."

United States Senate,
Washington, D. C., Dec. 31, 1903.

Hon. J. C. W. Beckham, Governor,
Frankfort, Ky.:

Dear Sir:—Permit me to urge upon you to recommend to the Legislature the enactment of a law providing for a uniform system of municipal accounting. Under your benign administration of affairs our State has resumed its wonted ways of peace and prosperity, hence I can conceive of no act of this Legislature calculated to have such an important influence on our continued prosperity and progress as would the adoption of a law similar to one in our neighboring State of Ohio.

Keeping city accounts by a uniform, intelligent, business-like system is of almost equal importance to citizens as the present system of keeping bankbooks—which permits an expert without assistance to know at a glance the condition of any banking institution.

I am sending you some literature on the subject, which you will do me the honor to read. I warrant once you catch the spirit of the subject, you will discover that you could erect no more durable monument to your career as our Chief Executive than to leave a law upon our statute books such as I have indicated. Such a law should be broad enough to include all the financial departments of our State, county and city governments, securing the maximum of accuracy and efficiency in our fiscal officers.

My apology for intruding upon you is my zeal in the cause of better municipal systems, which touch citizens at ever turn, while their national government touches them only here and there.

Your friend,
(Signed) C. E. WOODS.

Commonwealth of Kentucky,
Executive Department.
January 11, 1904.

Hon. Clarence E. Woods, Washington, D. C.:

Dear Sir:—I am directed by the Governor to acknowledge receipt of yours of the 31st ult., enclosing certain documents in regard to public accounting and to say that, while the same came too late to be embodied in his recommendations to the Legislature, he feels sure that the suggestions will be very valuable, and he will call the attention of some of the influential members of the General Assembly to the same. He will, therefore, retain the documents until such time as you will request their return.

Very truly,
(Signed) EDW. O. LEIGH,
Secretary to the Governor.

Editor Foote has supplied the CLIMAX with a copy of Ohio Uniform Public Accounting Law, which is in force and operation there and has been adopted by several other States. It was this law that Mr. Woods sought to have Governor Beckham recommend to the Legislature. Mr. Foote says:

"All that is needed in any community to give added momentum to the movement for uniform public accounting is an intelligent worker, who will read the literature on the subject, which we are ready to supply, and interest himself in getting others to read it. We shall be glad to hear from all who are willing to serve their communities in this way."

HOW HYOMEI HELPS THE HEALTH

Kills the Germs of Grip, Catarrh and Colds, "Costs Nothing If It Fails," Says B. L. Middelton.

Now that Hyomei can be obtained in nearly every town and city in the country, it is possible to buy from druggists a health-giving climate, to be carried in the purse or pocket. By breathing it a few minutes four times a day you can soon cure grip, coughs, colds and even the worst and most chronic cases of catarrh.

B. L. Middelton has seen so many remarkable cures made by the Hyomei treatment, that he sells it with the positive agreement to return the money if it fails to cure.

A complete outfit costs but $1, and consists of the pocket inhaler, medicine dropper and sufficient Hyomei to last several weeks.

It effects a cure in the worst catarrhal troubles and if breathed at the commencement of a cold or the grip, will check it quickly and prevent sickness. Extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c.

When breathed through the inhaler, the germ-killing and health giving Hyomei goes to the most remote cells of the throat and lungs, killing all the catarrhal germs, soothing the irritated mucous membrane and vitalizing the blood with ozone.

At this season of the year, everyone should have a Hyomei outfit to prevent and cure catarrhal troubles, and ward off attacks of grip, pneumonia and similar germ diseases. 1m

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Mr. D. Kauble, of Nevada, O., says: I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.

A DULL YEAR FOR CUPID.

Illinois Drummer Says Young Men Fight Shy of Matrimony During Leap Year.

When the Southdown drummer returned to the city the other day from his regular run over the Illinois circuit, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, it was evidence that he had run across a "new one" during the week. Being an unusually acute observer, he rarely lets anything go by him, and, therefore, the leap-year doings down in the corn belt have not gone unnoticed.

"Well, sir, it's a fact," he said in telling of the trip, "that the matrimonial business has fallen off about 50 per cent. throughout the state. I have been in half a dozen county seats during the past week, and the county clerks swear the marriage license business has dropped off in an amazing manner. Last year at this time and in other years, the business was brisk, but this, as the clerks say is leap year, and as a rule, young men prefer not to be married during leap year. They seem to have the idea that their friends will believe that the young women did the courting, and their conceit compels them to fight shy of matrimony during the year.

"If you think this leap year business doesn't have the effect of bringing about a slump in matrimony, just go with me on one of my jaunts and you'll find that leap year is the poorest of all years for Mr. Cupid and his sneaking tricks."

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE.

Demonstrates Feasibility of Transplanting and Propagating Clams —Result of Experiment.

As a result of a series of experiments by the students of the Rhode Island college of agriculture at Kingston and of the opening of the breachway at Point Judith, clams are now being dug on the shores of Point Judith pond in the South county, in places where they have never before been found, says the Providence Journal. They are more or less abundant also and the residents of the adjoining country have been taking advantage of their opportunity recently since the presence of the clam beds was discovered. It all came from a series of experiments undertaken to demonstrate by the class and for the class the feasibility of transplanting and propagating the clams.

Some time ago one of the classes took up this study and planted some young clams along the shores of this body of water. Not long ago it was found that the clams had grown and multiplied until the digging is fairly good in the beds where the "college" clams were planted. All of which goes to show that there are several kinds of agriculture, and that it is easily possible to farm the sea as to farm the land.

TELLS OF INHUMAN ORDER.

Former Russian Soldier, Now of Pennsylvania, Says Czar's Men Must Kill the Wounded.

There is living in Dowingtown, Pa., a former soldier in the Russian army who can testify to the fact that there is a secret rule in the czar's army to kill all the wounded, says a dispatch to the Chicago Chronicle. His name is J. M. Schulman; he conducts a flourishing clothing store; and previously to coming to this country served two months in the Russian army as a conscript. He says:

"There is a secret rule in the Russian army to kill all the wounded. It is communicated to all officers and is tacitily understood among the soldiers. The Russians argue that the maintenance of hospitals is too expensive—more so than to kill off the wounded.

"I am in a position to say with the utmost positiveness that such a rule exists in the Russian army and that it applies at least to the privates, and possibly to the officers."

PARDONED BY THE MIKADO.

Knowledge of English Gave Viscount Hayashi, Japanese Minister to Britain, Lease of Life.

Viscount Hayashi, the Japanese minister to Great Britain, spent several years at the University of London and returned to his own country in time to take part in the rebelliol in of the reactionists, between 1865 and 1868.

The revolt was put down and the revolutionists, Hayashi and the rest, were turned over to the "lord high executioner," who put them in iron cages until he got ready to cut their heads off.

About that time the mikado happened to be in great need of a man who could interpret English for him, and somebody thought of Hayashi. The condemned rebel was taken from his cage and performed the task so well the mikado pardoned him and made him imperial interpretor. At that time there were only five or six Japanese who could speak English.

Driving Concrete Piles.

In the suburbs of Berlin recently concrete has been employed in place of wood in making piles to be driven into the ground for foundations to buildings. These singular piles, varying from 17 to 26 feet in length, are triangular in cross section, and consist of Portland cement mixed with river ballast, the composition being stayed with an armature comprising, for each pile, three quarter-inch iron rods tied together at regular intervals, the rods being set into the concrete. The heads of the piles are guarded by buffers, and, thus protected, they can be hammered into the ground like wooden beams with a pile driver.

PALACE CARS FOR HORSES.

Animals Traveling by Rail Have Fine Accommodations—"Double Deckers" for Sheep and Hogs.

American railroads have almost as many different kinds of cars for carrying animals as they have cars for passengers.

One kind of car that is used for shipping horses is known technically as a palace horse car, and, excepting for fine woodwork and brasswork, it is a palace car, giving horses fine accommodations.

Each horse has his own stateroom, so to speak, for the car is fitted with independent stalls. Each stall has manger and water trough, overhead are racks for holding extra feed.

Sheep and hogs are often carried in cars with two stories. These are known as double-deckers, and the animals are shipped in both stories. They have room to lie down in and water is supplied to them from pipes.

Horses and cattle are sidetracked at intervals if the cars are making a long run, and the beasts are led out and allowed to run around for exercise. Then they are driven back to their cars and resume their journey.

Sheep are often unloaded within a few miles of their destination and turned loose to rest and feed until they are in good flesh. This is not done merely from motives of humanity. It has been found that the sheep are so much improved by it that they bring higher prices when they reach the market.

GEMS IN UNITED STATES.

One Regard in Which Our Natural Resources Are Deficient—Fine Stones Scarce.

"It is a little strange," said Irving L. Russell to a Washington Post reporter, "that the United States, so far ahead in national resources of every other part of the globe in all essential things, should be so deficient as a producer of precious stones. I am of the opinion that there will be a big discovery some day of the most valued gems, probably in some out of the way corner of the land.

"I do not mean to intimate that we are exactly destitute of fine stones, but that those found are mostly of inferior quality as compared with the output of the old mines. In North Carolina a good many emeralds and rubies and sapphires are to be had, but they are of not sufficient value to warrant cutting. Some very fine pearls have been taken out of the shells picked up in the streams of Arkansas, and at one time the search for them down there amounted to a craze. Pearls, by the way, have gone up in price from 200 to 300 per cent. in recent years.

"A great many semi-precious stones are mined in California, the turquoise found out there being especially beautiful, but lacking in hardness. Tourmalines also come from California in abundance."

PROSPERITY'S BAROMETER.

Salesman Says the Common Paper Bag the Grocers Use Is Reliable Trade Index.

"The paper bag, the kind the grocers use, you know, is the best barometer for registering the rise and fall of general prosperity," said the city salesman the other morning. "I have been selling paper bags for 26 years, and can refer to my old order books and tell you just about how much money there was in general circulation at any time since I have been toting that old paper case about the city.

"In 26 years I have closely watched the sales, and I want to say that I am selling bigger bags to grocers now than ever before. Along about 1894, and for three or four years afterward one pound and two pound bags were the most used. I now sell ten times as many eight pound bags as I did even six or seven years ago.

"You see, it stands to reason that when people have little money they will buy their groceries in small amounts. When there is plenty of money people buy more at a time. Of course, when the larger paper bags are sold it means that I won't sell so many of them, for people don't trot to the groceries so often."

Convict's Discovery.

Several months ago a man named Kurzpeski, having committed a serious offense, was sentenced to a long term of imprisonment in Germany, and since then the public heard nothing about him until the other day, when the news spread that he had discovered a cure for consumption which he claimed was infallible. In a letter to the minister of the interior, Kurzpeski gave a glowing account of the new remedy, stating that it had worked wonders on himself and others who are imprisoned with him at Luneburg, and requested to be set at liberty for a time in order that he might continue his investigations in a properly equipped laboratory. With this request the minister has not yet seen fit to comply, but he has thought the matter of such importance that he has instructed a committee of scientists to go to Luneburg and make a thorough test of the alleged remedy.

Lighthouse in a Desert.

There is at least one lighthouse in the world that is not placed on any mariner's chart. It is away out on the Arizona desert and marks the spot where a well supplies pure, fresh water to travelers. It is the only place where water may be had for 45 miles to the eastward and for at least 30 miles in any other direction. The "house" consists of a tall cottonwood pole, to the top of which a lantern is hoisted every night. The light can be seen for miles across the plain in every direction.

The Human Lottery

"Ah, if only I were beautiful how happy life would be."

Many a forlorn maid has said this as she looked into the mirror. It is the one possession in the lottery of human life which woman would not refuse.

BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator

for young girls on the threshold of womanhood is invaluable. When they become pale and languid, the eyes dull, aching head, feet and hands cold, appetite gone or abnormal, obstructed periods and painful menses, and their systems generally run down, they need a tonic, building up and their blood cleansed.

Bradfield's Female Regulator for women is particularly valuable and useful owing to its tonic properties and as a regulator of the menstrual flows. Painful, obstructed and suppressed menstruation is permanently relieved and all diseases peculiar to her genital organs are cured by it.

Regulator clears the complexion, brightens the eye, sharpens the appetite, removes muddy and blotched conditions of the skin and cures sick headache at once.

THERE will be no trouble for the Democrats to find plenty of material for a platform this year and still go back to the Jeffersonian idea of government without being out of date. Economy in the expenditure of the public money, is an old principle that might might well be applied to the present day extravagance and reckless distribution of the country's money to a favored clique of grafters and boodlers. Equal and exact justice to all men, is a Jeffersonian maxim that is sadly lacking in the Republican administration, when a high preferential tariff allow. the manufacturers of this country to sell their products cheaper in Europe than at home. The peasant of Europe can buy a pair of American made shoes cheaper than the laborer can buy them. The farmer in South America can buy the implements of his trade, that are made in this country, cheaper than we can buy them. The American manufacturer has shown his ability to cope with the manufacturers of the world in a foreign market, yet the "infant industry" must be protected at home, according to the Republican idea. The real reason for such a protection is that they may be allowed to place their hands in the pockets of the American people, and by combination among themselves, demand any price for their output they see fit, limited only by their cupidity and daring—Danville Advocate.

THE Supreme Court has again decided that persons riding on passes cannot receive damages in case of accidents while traveling. Most any body would rather have a pass and run the risk of not getting hurt.

THE season of the year is now at hand when it is hard to keep steadily at work. The air is full of warm life that is drawing us from work to the outer air. And how much happier, healthier. and stronger we are when, at opportune times, we yield to this impulse of our physical natures, responding to the call of our great mother Nature, and "go out-of-doors." It is a prescription that is worth much more than those our physicians write for us, and has the additional merit of being a specific for almost any or all of the troubles that annoy us now. We are restive under the necessity of work because our fund of vitality has been heavily drawn upon during the busy season; our tempers have lost in serenity because overwork and late hours have worn on our nerves; we have the blues because our digestion is not in order; our employes lose interest because our own is flagging; we cannot get up steam for active and energetic work because, in truth, we are utterly fagged out. Then drop work, the moment you can, and get out-of-doors. Nature sends a message to you when she calls to you to come out and learn of her. She will give freshness to your heart and mind, iron to your blood, elasticity to your muscles, snap to your nerves, and make a new—aye, a rejuvenated—being of you. When your duties are dull, when you feel that your laborers are drowsy, when you have no energy and ambition, then, at the first chance lay all else aside and "get out-of-doors." One hour of fresh air, flower scented and warm with the spring sunshine, one hour spent with singing birds, running streams, budding trees, and blooming flowers makes a new man or a new woman of the tired working man or woman, and gives strength for another day's duties, until again it is time to "get out-of-doors."

THE Paducah Register says that a large number of people from Western Kentucky have joined the vast, restless throng that is going west to "grow up with the country," and a great many of them are coming back thoroughly imbued with the idea that Kentucky is good enough. It is truly pitiful to see a farmer sell everything he has and start for the boundless west without the slightest idea as to where he is going or what he is doing. Sometimes they make it all right, but generally wind up with a home-sickness that is pitiful and an empty purse.

Can't Equal Richmond.

Mr. John S. Marrs, the clever clerk, at the Hotel Glyndon, Richmond, was here a few days recently, and surprised the friends of his old home by "blowing., about Richmond. He seemed to have gone back on his old home, as every thing mentioned here could not come up to what "we have in Richmond." Richmond is one of the best towns on the map, but the boys could not stand for Marrs, "laying it" over Lancaster, so set about to "fix it" with him. He was stopping at the Mason Hotel, and the proprietor, Owen Shugars, sent a servant to Dix River and had him catch a large mud turtle. The turtle was placed in Marrs' bed. That night, he retired about 11 o'clock and shortly after came running through the hall into the office clad only in a short night shirt, and yelling at the top of his voice, "My gawd! Run up and see what 'tis in that bed!" he gasped. Mr Shugars accompanied Marrs back to the room. "Look, look, what is that?" pleaded Marrs. "That? Oh, that is nothing but a Lancaster bed bug" calmly replied Shugars. "Oh, is it?., said Marrs, "why didn't you say so. We have 'em so much larger in Richmond that I did not know what it was."—Lancaster Record.

with Local Applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

HOW HYOMEI HELPS THE HEALTH

Kills the Germs of Grip, Catarrh and Colds, "Costs Nothing If It Fails," Says B. L. Middelton.

Now that Hyomei can be obtained in nearly every town and city in the country, it is possible to buy from druggists a health-giving climate, to be carried in the purse or pocket. By breathing it a few minutes four times a day you can soon cure grip, coughs, colds and even the worst and most chronic cases of catarrh.

B. L. Miiddelton has seen so many remarkable cures made by the Hyomei treatment, that he sells it with the positive agreement to return the money if it fails to cure.

A complete outfit costs but $1, and consists of the pocket inhaler, medicine dropper and sufficient Hyomei to last several weeks.

It effects a cure in the worst catarrhal troubles and if breathed at the commencement of a cold or the grip, will check it quickly and prevent sickness. Extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c.

When breathed through the inhaler, the germ-killing and health giving Hyomei goes to the most remote cells of the throat and lungs, killing all the catarrhal germs, soothing the irritated mucous membrane and vitalizing the blood with ozone.

At this season of the year. everyone should have a Hyomei outfit to prevent and cure catarrhal troubles, and ward off attacks of grip, pneumonia and similar germ diseases. 1m

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Mr. D. Kauble, of Nevada, O., says: I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.

FOUGHT ON THE TRACK.

Both Belligerents Were Killed By a Freight Engine.

Covington, Ky., March 23.—Engaged in a fist fight, standing on the track leading from the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad bridge into the yards at Park street, two men Tuesday night gave up their lives and were crushed by a locomotive before either would give the other an inch of vantage ground. William Rogers, foreman of a switching crew in the C. & O. yards, and Geo. Dawn, a helper, were the men engaged in the remarkable battle. Both lived in Covington, Dawn at 17th and Grant streets, and Rogers at 1702 Banklick street. The men were killed just at the end of the incline leading from the brige into the yard.

It is surmised that both men saw the approaching train, realized their danger and faced a terrible death under the engine rather than give way to each other.

A NEW PRODUCT.

Cow Corn Will Be Exhibited at the World's Fair.

Williamstown, Ky., March 23.—Among the agricultural products of Grant county that will be on display at the World's fair in the Kentucky exhibit is what is known as cow corn. It is quite a curiosity and many farmers in this section raise it. The ears grow to the length of eight or ten inches, and each grain of corn on the cob is incased in a tiny shuck of perfect formation. The claim for its superiority over ordinary corn is based on the fact that it serves a double purpose, the shucks proving nutritious for cattle.

THE WESTERN FLOOD

IT CLEARED INUNDATED DISTRICT OF PESTS.

The Country Overrun by Mice, Rats, Prairie Dogs and Rabbits Has Been Most Thoroughly Cleared of Them.

The greatest disaster which ever visited Topeka, Kan., was the flood of last summer. Occasionally some one discovers that the flood resulted in some good. One thing which is a fact, however, and which is a blessing to the people of the valley, is that the mice, rats, moles, gophers and rabbits have not bothered the district which was flooded.

Prior to the flood the stores, factories, dwellings, granaries and all buildings in the valley were overrun with rats and mice. Now it is so seldom that the people who live in the district which was flooded see a mouse or a rat that the fact is commented upon.

When the water got into the buildings along the valley, the rats and mice tried to get away. Some of them succeeded, but most of them were drowned. Many of the rodents got into the upper stories of the houses, but they could get nothing to eat and in their efforts to find food they were drowned. After the flood the ground was covered with soft mud for months. The rodents attempted to get out of the places of safety they had found during the flood and went to seek something to eat. They died in the soft mud.

The driving out of the rats and mice was a blessing, but that was nothing compared to the benefit the farmers all along the Kaw valley received by the death of the moles and gophers. It is said that there is not a mole or a gopher in the valley where the land was under water for three days. The strange part of it is that the gophers did not come back after the flood.

Tracts of land that were honeycombed with gopher and mole holes are now as solid as a piece of land that had been cultivated every year. In fact, there is not a gopher or mole in the district which was flooded. This is the opinion of the men who live in the flooded district. It may seem like hunting mighty hard for benefits from a disaster, but the relief the farmers have experienced from the absence of the moles and gophers has been of enough importanc to cause general comment. In the past fields have been almost ruined by the pests, and many horses have been crippled by stepping in the holes in the fields.

The people in the western part of the state have been asking for years for some way to get rid of the prairie dog. The farmers in the eastern part of the state have also asked for some method of cleaning out the gophers. It appears that the only effective method is to have a flood which will keep the pests under water for three or four days. The remedy is severe, but it is effective.

Another thing that the people in the flooded district have to be thankful for is the driving out of the rabbits from the valley. It would be supposed that the rabbits would have run away from the flood, but they did not. Many of them were drowned. Strange as it may seem, the rabbits did not come back after the flood. Why this should be no one can tell, but it is the truth.

SCHWAB'S MOTOR CAR.

New Machine Promises to Astonish All Europe by Its Speedy Flights.

Charles M. Schwab's new 90-horse power motor car has arrived at Nice, France, in charge of a professional chauffeur, who was sent overland with the machine from Paris. The machine was turned over to the purchaser in first-class condition and he has promised his friends to make some new records with it.

If the maiden trip of the car from Paris to this city may be taken as a criterion it seems more than likely that Mr. Schwab will make good his boast. The chauffeur made the trip at an average speed of 43.5 miles an hour, including necessary stops for slight repairs and slow runs through numberless towns and villages on the route. The makers have guaranteed a maximum speed of 80 miles an hour with three passengers and 300 pounds of baggage.

INFLUX OF FOREIGNERS.

Census of Immigrants Who Have Settled in New England During Last Year.

Tables of figures showing the immigration of foreigners into New England during 1903 have just been completed by Rev. Joel S. Ives, of Hartford, Conn., who for the past five years has conducted a census of the foreign population of the six states in behalf of the Congregational Home Missionary society. According to his figures the influx of foreigners last year was as follows: Maine, 1,997; New Hampshire, 1,861; Vermont, 1,611; Massachusetts, 65,757; Rhode Island, 9,467, and Connecticut 21,813, a total of 102,506. Southern Europe supplied a greater number of these immigrants, for of the total 28,151 were Italians and 11,877 Poles.

This insures the baggage going direct to the World's Fair Station without going through the Union Depot where it is subject to possible delays incident to the collection of thousands of trunks and to the extra expense of transfer. This is an advantage enjoyed by no other line from this territory, and will be a great convenience to patrons of the C. H. & D. Ry.

"OUR CLOTHING FITS"

Making Preparations.

Messrs. B. W. Turner and R. C. Stockton, both prominent members of local lodge of Elks, went to Cincinnati last week to make arrangements for the accommodation of this lodge at the reunion which will be held in July It is probable that the lodge will secure quarters at the Grand hotel.

Last Opportunity.

Our recent clubbing proposition having proved so successful to all parties concerned, we have decided to continue to offer until April 4, County Court day The Climax and weekly Courier-Journal, both one year, for the small sum of $1.25. This is positively the last opportunity that will be offered this year to secure these papers at price named.

New Stock.

Mrs. Ella Farley wishes to say to her friends that her trimmer, Miss Finney, has arrived and already she is showing some beautiful creations in the way of spring hats. She will have no formal opening, but her stock which is complete and up to date, is on display at any time. It will afford her great pleasure to have her friends call and see her line. Her rooms are in the same place, in the Oldham building.

Amusements.

The Wilbur Mack Company closed a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House on last Saturday night, at which time they presented "The Country Judge." They played to a good house all week which attests to the popularity of this splendid comedian and his excellent troupe. Mrs. B. H. Howe formerly Miss Grace Taylor, of this city, is a member of this company and showed considerable talent in her acting. They are playing in Frankfort this week, and we are sure they will meet with a hearty welcome. Their return to our city will be a source of pleasure at any time.

Will Move to Franklin.

It is with regret that their many friends learn of the intended removal of Mr. E. G. Parrish and family from this city to Franklin county. Mr. Parrish has for quite a number of years, been in the revenue service, proving himself most capable. His removal is caused by his appointment as Superintendant of Colonel Moores' distilleries near Frankfort. His new position pays a handsome salary, and we congratulate Mr. Parrish upon his good luck. He left Monday to assume his new duties, Mrs. Parrish and her two handsome boys will go in the course of a month or two. It will be hard for their friends to give up this estimable family, but the best wishes will follow them to their new home.

Cried When She Heard of the Marriage.

The secret wedding of Miss Daisy Clark, 22 of 638 West Fourth street, to William Hinman, 27, of Charlottesville, Va., Monday night at the residence of Rev. C. W. Blodgett, 545 West Seventh street, developed Wednesday.

It was a case of love at first sight. Miss Ella Clark, a married sister, said Wednesday: "I was never so surprised in all my life. Hinman had called to see my sister for about a year, and I knew they were engaged, but did not expect them to marry so soon They came home Monday night and broke the news to us. It was such a surprise that I just sat down and cried."

Hinman is a member of a prominent family of Charlottsville, Va., and his bride is the daughter of Richard Clark of Richmond, Ky., a well known Kentucky live stock man.

Hinman is a traveling salesman for an Eastern firm, and met Miss Clark when on a business trip to Cincinnati.

They are stopping at the Hotel Emery, and will leave Saturday for the East.—Cincinnati Post.

Mr. Clark, the father of the bride is a well known farmer of the Kirksville neighborhood, and was likewise greatly surprised to hear of his daughter's marriage.

Praise Service.

On next Sunday evening there will be a praise service at the First Presbyterian church, given under the auspices of the Foreign Missionary Society of the church. A delightful musical program, consisting of anthems, duets, solos etc. has been arranged, and on which the choir has been working for quite awhile. The choir will be assisted by Misses Minnie Dykes, and Kate Smith and Mrs. H. B. Hanger. It is earnestly hoped that a good crowd will attend this service as it is for a good cause. All lovers of good music can't afford to miss it.

In Line

One of Richmond's most hustling merchants is Mr. E. V. Elder. His stock of new spring goods was never more complete. He is in line with all the newest styles. Miss Nellie Donelly is at the head of the millinery department, which fact alone, insures stylish and nobby designs in ladies and children's hats. Mr. Elder has one of the neatest, roomiest and most up to date stores in the city. His stock comprises dry goods, notions of all kinds millinery, shoes, clothing, curtains, carpets, rugs and other things too numerous to mention. Watch for his mammoth advertisement which will appear in our next issue.

In Baptist Circles

Mr. Thos. Phelps has been quite sick with grip, but we are glad to report he is improving.

It will be gratifying to the numerous friends of Mrs. W. T. Griggs to know that she is convalescent from a recent illness.

The sermon to young men Sunday night was well received, the church being filled with hearers. The subject for next Sunday evening will be "Young Women in the Home." Come out and bring your friends. Two additions were added to the church at the Sunday morning service.

The pastor and wife are rejoicing over the arrival of a son, who came to bless their home, Saturday, March 19.

The topic for Wednesday evening prayer meeting will be "The Parable of the Great Supper," found in the 14th chapter of Luke.

DEATHS

SHIPP.—The sad news which reached here last Thursday, announcing the death of Mrs. H. C. Shipp of Cynthiana was hard to believe and caused great sorrow among her many friends. She had been ill for a week or more and on Wednesday she was taken to St. Joseph's hospital in Lexington where it was thought an operation for appendicitis might be necessary. However it was soon found that she could not undergo an operation, her strength failing her rapidly, and at four o'clock Thursday morning her soul winged its flight to eternity. Mrs. Shipp was formerly Miss Jennie Ferrell of this place and was the daughter of the late Captain Thomas and Mrs. Bettie Ferrill. She was 29 years old and and was an unusually handsome and attractive woman. In 1896 she became the wife of Mr. H. C. Shipp, since which time she has resided in Lexington, Georgetown and Cynthiana. She was noted for her many acts of kindess and deeds of charity. It was only last Christmas that she made many a poor home brighter by her remembrances. Before her marriage, she was saleslady for Mr. W D. Oldham in this city and was extremely popular with a large circle of friends. Besides her husband and one beautiful little daughter, she is survived by her mother and the following sisters and brothers:

Mesdames W, D. Oldham of this city, Thomas Ellison of the county, and Edward Moberly of Ford, and Messrs. W. F. and D.T. Ferrill both of this city. Spencer, of Lexington, after which her remains were laid to rest in Battle Grove Cemetery.

A Letter of Sympathy.

The following beautiful letter of tender sympathy was received by Mrs. Durrett White, of Clay City, from Mr. Vernon L. Vaughn, of Phoenix Arizona. Mrs. White is a widow of the late lamented Professor Durrett White, whose death was such a sad blow to his many friends and admirers. Mr. Vaughn was for about ten years County clerk of Estill and was highly respected and honored by the people of that section. His letter is complimentary and justly so, and as we read it our hearts bleed anew over the untimely death of our beloved friend. The following is the letter, for which we are greatly indebted to Mrs, White for its use:

Phoenix Arizona,
March 9th. 1904,

Mrs. Durrett White,
Clay City Ky.

My Dear Mrs. White:—Having just read in the Clay City Times of the death of your husband, I hasten to extend to you and your family my deepest sympathy in your sad bereavement. From my first acquaintance with Mr. White in the year 1881, when it was my good fortune to be a pupil in his school, there always existed between us the warmest and most loyal friendship. His supreme honesty, genial traits and superior attainments will continue to live, though his great spirit has passed beyond. It is sad and unfortunate that his resourceful brain is forever numbed and his pen, from which emanated so many brilliant and instructive productions, to gladden and enlighten the hearts and souls of humanity, has been laid away for the last time. In his untimely death, my dear madam I deeply mourn the loss of a dearest and most valued friend. That providence may ever guide and protect the bereaved widow and sorrowing children, I beg to remain faithfully,

Your Friend
VERNON L. VAUGHN.

Land is Wealth

More than that—land is the sourse of all wealth. The ratio of population to acerage in the sliding scale upon which opportunity is gauged, success determined. Cut the number of land holders in any state in the Union in two, and what is the result? It's simple arithmetic—opportunities doubled in that State. What if three-fourths the population be eliminatep? Opportunities quadrupled; and so on. That's the condition in the great Southwest, Arkansas Indian Territory and Oklahoma. This vast territory is supporting less than one-fourth the population of its capacity. Fertile—a land where wheat and cotton thrive side by side—where two yearly vegetable crops are demonstrated possibilities—the greates fruit section in the country; but that's only half the story. The low ratio of population to acreagge makes land cheap—that's the main point. There's room for success in the great Southwest. Illustrated literature sent on request

These gentlemen are in the market the year round for good horses and persons having good horses to sell should see Collins and Walker. They also take horses and brake them, or put them in good selling condition. Everybody knows what Bob Walker can do with a horse. The Collins & Walker stable contains forty nice, clean, roomy stalls, and the very best care will be taken of horses put in this stable. Remember the place, the old Adams stable on Irvine street, now conducted by Joe Collins and Robt. Walker.

Announcements

To the Voters of the Fifth Appelalte Court District of Kentucky

I AM a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals from this District, subject to the action of the Democratic party. As Circuit Judge, it became my duty to try a number of criminal cases, which have become a part of the State's history and at a most critical time. As Judge of the State Fiscal Court, it fell to my lot to construe the Statutes adopted, to put in force the provisions of the new Constitution, as well as to construe the present Constitution whenever a controversy arose as to its proper construction. Almost innumerable cases have burdened the dockets of my court, touching the rights of corporations and the exercise of franchises under the law. How well I have discharged my duties under such trying circumstances, is left to you to determine.

I will be very grateful to all who feel they can assist me to secure the high position and office to which I aspire.

Very respectfully,
JAMES E. CANTRILL.

John D. Carroll.

A Candidate for Appellate Judge in this District..

Hon. John D. Carroll, of New Castle, one of the best known lawyers in the State, has announced as a candidate for Appellate Judge in this district, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Mr. Carroll's friends— especially in the legal profession— have for a long time desired to see him on the bench of the highest court in the State. He has held several offices of trust and honor, and in all of them acquitted himself with credit. When quite a young man he served two terms in the Legislature; was a member of the Constitutional Convention, and one of the three commissioners appointed by the Governor to revise the statute laws of the State to conform to the changes made by the constitution, and was for three years chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee. He is the editor of Carroll's Kentucky Codes of Practice and Carroll's Kentucky Statutes, lawbooks that are in general use and that may be found in the office of every lawyer in the State. A man of high integrity, great industry, with an extensive and accurate knowledge of the law, and in the prime of life, his large circle of friends believe he would make a splendid Judge.—Trimble Democrat. tf

APPETITE AND MENTALITY.

Nations of Intelligence and Energy Are the Ones That Spend Most Money on Food.

It has been demonstrated by those who have investigated the subject that the people who eat are the peoples who get on and do things. People who have large appetites, it says, have become the chief nations in the world and the nature of the food consumed bears a relation to the character of the consumers.

The argument expressed in tabular form indicates in pence the amount expended a head each day for food and the annual exports in pounds sterling:

United States	29	290,000,000
United Kingdom	29	280,000,000
Germany	21	22,000,000
France	19	166,000,000
Italy	9	84,000,000

The American leads the world as a meat eater, with three pounds a week; the Briton follows a close second, with a little more than two pounds and a half; the German consumes a little less than the Briton and the Russian consumes one pound, while the Italian must perforce eke out his scant half pound with large supplies of macaroni and black bread and garlic. The argument has a plausible look, says the Chicago Chronicle, but let us not forget that the finest specimens of physical strength in the whole world, with the exception of one hardy savage tribe few in numbers, comes from a spot in the Emerald isle where the diet is potatoes and milk, chiefly skimmed, and black bread, and very little of any of them. And there is the sturdy Scot, who scarcely knows the taste of meat, but makes his way in all climes and under all conditions, though he springs from an ancestry that subsisted on oatmeal.

HOW A TRAMP SAWED WOOD.

Sounds of Hard Work Issued from Shed But Sticks Were Left Intact as Before.

Harry Sanderson, manager for Tony Pastor, who lives at Cranford, N. J., not feeling particularly well, took a day off recently and remained at home. From the window of his library, says the New York Herald, he observed a tramp entering his gate and he walked down to the rear door to meet him. It was the old story—a request for a meal. Having a load of unsawed wood in the shed, he told the fellow that if he got to work and performed on the sawbuck for a brief period he would have something prepared for him.

The tramp went to the shed and immediately the sound of vigorous sawing was heard, stick after stick parting under his energetic efforts. Calling the tramp into the kitchen, Sanderson complimented him upon his energy, and the tramp replied with a modest air that whenever he had anything to do he generally paid attention to it. The meal was eaten and the tramp expressed his thanks and departed.

Shortly afterward Sanderson went out to the shed and was surprised to find every stick of wood intact. Upon inquiry in the village he ascertained that he had been entertaining a stranded ventriloquist, who was working his way back to New York from Easton, Pa. The mean chap had simply gone into the shed and given his imitation of sawing wood.

DRINKING AND SMOKING.

Physician Declares They Are Not Companion Vices—Inebriates Find Little Comfort in the Weed.

"The prevalent idea that drinking and smoking are companion vices is altogether wrong," said a physician, who has made a special study of dipsomania, according to the Philadelphia Record. "I find, on the contrary, that the habitual drunkard is not abnormally addicted to the use of tobacco. He may use the weed as a lesser stimulant when not strongly under the influence of alcohol, but when the drink gets firmly intrenched in his system he cares nothing for tobacco, for then it has last its force and its influence upon his nerves. Of course I mean in extreme cases.

"On the other hand, it is a rather curious fact that in the case of the moderate drinker, who also smokes, the cutting off of his supply of tobacco will increase his appetite for alcoholic beverages, and while at first the liquor will not affect him nearly so much as when he is smoking, in the end it will do him up. Consequently, it is safe to assume that the man who always used liquor and tobacco in moderation will, if he gives up tobacco, take more strongly to liquor. In fact, this is no assumption; it has been demonstrated on numerous occasions."

Telegraph in Cipher.

Chinese cannot be telegraphed, and to meet this difficulty a cipher system has been invented, by which messages in that language can be transmitted over the wires. The sender of the message has no need to trouble himself about the meaning, and, in fact, may be telegraphing all day without the slightest idea of the information he is sending, for he transmits only numerals. It is very different, however, with the receiver of the message at the other end, as he must have a code dictionary, and, after each message is received, must translate it, writing each literary character in the place of the numeral that stands for it.

The Only Titled Mute.

Sir Evelyn Arthur Fairbairn is the only subject of King Edward who bears a hereditary title and was born deaf and dumb. A tall, handsome man, with a peculiarly winning smile and attractive manner, he gives no outward sign of a misfortune which would have shadowed a temperament less bouyant than his own. Sir Arthur is a famous globe trotter, a great part of his travel having been undertaken to study means of ameliorating the lot of those afflicted as he is himself.

BIG LEGAL BATTLE.

Title of 3,600 Acres of Valuable Ohio Land to Be Contested.

Part of an Estate Left to Slaves by John Randolph of Roanoke Is to Be Fought For in the Courts.

Farmers in the southern part of Mercer county, O., are considerably exercised over a copy of a will recently filed at Celina in the probate court by a colored attorney, John Beam, of Indianapolis, Ind., laying the foundation for a legal battle for the possession of 3,600 acres of Mercer county land, valued at over $250,000.

John Randolph, of Roanoke, Va., who was a wealthy slave owner, died in 1836, leaving a large estate. William Leigh was made executor of his will and was directed to purchase 3,600 acres of land somewhere in the United States and to give each of his slaves ten acres. William Leigh finally decided to purchase this land in Marion, Franklin, Granville and Jefferson townships, and locate the Randolph slaves in the southern part of the county. Leigh had the title of the land put in his name as executor and had, it is said, intended to deed ten acres to each slave after locating them.

Leigh started with his 360 odd slaves on canal-boats up the Miami and Erie canal and when the people of the southern part of this and Auglaize county heard of it they met the slaves at New Bremen, O., drove them back and would not allow them to land. Most of the slaves returned to Virginia, but some of them afterward located on some of the land purchased for them. Only a few of the families are there now.

Now it is claimed that William Leigh had no right under the bill to take title in his name as executor, but that title should have been given to the slaves as described in the will, and that the people who purchased this land from either William Leigh or the squatters have no good title.

A petition will shortly be filed in the Mercer common pleas court by Attorney Beam, who is also one of the alleged heirs, to reclaim this land for the heirs of the Randolph slaves. This land has become very valuable for its oil and gas deposits.

CZAR WANTS SHIP CANAL.

Project to Connect the Black Sea with the Baltic by the Means of Long Artificial Ditch.

The czar has approved a gigantic project for a canal to connect the Black sea with the Baltic. The course will be 1,200 miles long and the cost is estimated at $40,000,000.

The plan is to follow the Dwina river until near the swamps at its headwaters, then dig through the forests of Minsk until the headwaters of the Dnieper are reached.

It will be a far greater undertaking than was the Baltic canal dug by Germany, but the reasons for it are similar.

The principal object talked about is to develop trade and save the enormous cost of shipping over the round-about way through the North sea, Atlantic and Mediterranean.

But the main thing the Russian government has in mind is to be able to call into use, in just such emergencies as the dispute with Japan, the Black sea fleet, which now is practically imprisoned by Turkey's control of the only outlet through the Dardanelles.

LOVE DOGS BEST.

Canines in District of Columbia Objects of More Affection Than Human Beings.

Dogs are loved better than man, woman and child in the District of Columbia, according to Secretary Wilson's testimony quoted by Mr. Burleson, of Texas, in the house the other day when the agricultural appropriation bill was under consideration. The secretary is quoted as having said:

"We are pushing this work with the theory that if we can prevent blackleg it will die out. It is the same with rabies. If you muzzle every dog in the District of Columbia and allow no other dog to come in the rabies will not come in. You could not do that. The love for the pup is stronger than the love for man, woman or child in the District of Columbia, and dogs cannot be muzzled here. That is the theory on which we are trying to experiment with blackleg, and we are succeeding."

APPENDICITIS CONTAGIOUS.

The Disease Declared to Be Due to Germ by Dr. C. S. Sheldon, of Madison, Wis.

Dr. C. S. Sheldon, one of the leading physicians of Madison, Wis., has made the astounding declaration that appendicitis is contagious. He says that the disease is of microbic origin and that the only rational explanation of it is that it is the result of a germ that can be transferred. The prevalence of the disease, he believes, substantiates his theory. He says there is an epidemic of appendicitis in this country.

Dr. Sheldon is a graduate of Yale and has been a practicing physician for the last 40 years. He has been secretary of the Central Wisconsin Medical association for many years.

A Missouri Love Letter.

The "devil" of a north Missouri paper received a love letter the other day, and the foreman got hold of it and read it. This is what it said: "Dearest of All—At last I know you are thee onley person on earth for me. Darling, iff you don't come to me soon I'll die. I adoor you. When you come out tonite bring that box of chocolates or I'll black bothe yure eyes. Now mind. Yure loveing Lizzie."

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Mr. D. Kauble, of Nevada, O., says: I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.

A DULL YEAR FOR CUPID.

Illinois Drummer Says Young Men Fight Shy of Matrimony During Leap Year.

When the Southdown drummer returned to the city the other day from his regular run over the Illinois circuit, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, it was evidence that he had run across a "new one" during the week. Being an unusually acute observer, he rarely lets anything go by him, and, therefore, the leap-year doings down in the corn belt have not gone unnoticed.

"Well, sir, it's a fact," he said in telling of the trip, "that the matrimonial business has fallen off about 50 per cent. throughout the state. I have been in half a dozen county seats during the past week, and the county clerks swear the marriage license business has dropped off in an amazing manner. Last year at this time and in other years, the business was brisk, but this, as the clerks say is leap year, and as a rule, young men prefer not to be married during leap year. They seem to have the idea that their friends will believe that the young women did the courting, and their conceit compels them to fight shy of matrimony during the year.

"If you think this leap year business doesn't have the effect of bringing about a slump in matrimony, just go with me on one of my jaunts and you'll find that leap year is the poorest of all years for Mr. Cupid and his sneaking tricks."

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE.

Demonstrates Feasibility of Transplanting and Propagating Clams —Result of Experiment.

As a result of a series of experiments by the students of the Rhode Island college of agriculture at Kingston and of the opening of the breachway at Point Judith, clams are now being dug on the shores of Point Judith pond in the South county, in places where they have never before been found, says the Providence Journal. They are more or less abundant also and the residents of the adjoining country have been taking advantage of their opportunity recently since the presence of the clam beds was discovered. It all came from a series of experiments undertaken to demonstrate by the class and for the class the feasibility of transplanting and propagating the clams.

Some time ago one of the classes took up this study and planted some young clams along the shores of this body of water. Not long ago it was found that the clams had grown and multiplied until the digging is fairly good in the beds where the "college" clams were planted. All of which goes to show that there are several kinds of agriculture, and that it is easily possible to farm the sea as to farm the land.

TELLS OF INHUMAN ORDER.

Former Russian Soldier, Now of Pennsylvania, Says Czar's Men Must Kill the Wounded.

There is living in Dowingtown, Pa., a former soldier in the Russian army who can testify to the fact that there is a secret rule in the czar's army to kill all the wounded, says a dispatch to the Chicago Chronicle. His name is J. M. Schulman; he conducts a flourishing clothing store; and previously to coming to this country served two months in the Russian army as a conscript. He says:

"There is a secret rule in the Russian army to kill all the wounded. It is communicated to all officers and is tacitily understood among the soldiers. The Russians argue that the maintenance of hospitals is too expensive—more so than to kill off the wounded.

"I am in a position to say with the utmost positiveness that such a rule exists in the Russian army and that it applies at least to the privates, and possibly to the officers."

PARDONED BY THE MIKADO.

Knowledge of English Gave Viscount Hayashi, Japanese Minister to Britain, Lease of Life.

Viscount Hayashi, the Japanese minister to Great Britain, spent several years at the University of London and returned to his own country in time to take part in the rebellioin of the reactionists, between 1865 and 1868.

The revolt was put down and the revolutionists, Hayashi and the rest, were turned over to the "lord high executioner," who put them in iron cages until he got ready to cut their heads off.

About that time the mikado happened to be in great need of a man who could interpret English for him, and somebody thought of Hayashi. The condemned rebel was taken from his cage and performed the task so well the mikado pardoned him and made him imperial interpretor. At that time there were only five or six Japanese who could speak English.

Driving Concrete Piles.

In the suburbs of Berlin recently concrete has been employed in place of wood in making piles to be driven into the ground for foundations to buildings. These singular piles, varying from 17 to 26 feet in length, are triangular in cross section, and consist of Portland cement mixed with river ballast, the composition being stayed with an armature comprising, for each pile, three quarter-inch iron rods tied together at regular intervals, the rods being set into the concrete. The heads of the piles are guarded by buffers, and, thus protected, they can be hammered into the ground like wooden beams with a pile driver.

PALACE CARS FOR HORSES.

Animals Traveling by Rail Have Fine Accommodations—"Double Deckers" for Sheep and Hogs.

American railroads have almost as many different kinds of cars for carrying animals as they have cars for passengers.

One kind of car that is used for shipping horses is known technically as a palace horse car, and, excepting for fine woodwork and brasswork, it is a palace car, giving horses fine accommodations.

Each horse has his own stateroom, so to speak, for the car is fitted with independent stalls. Each stall has manger and water trough, overhead are racks for holding extra feed.

Sheep and hogs are often carried in cars with two stories. These are known as double-deckers, and the animals are shipped in both stories. They have room to lie down in and water is supplied to them from pipes.

Horses and cattle are sidetracked at intervals if the cars are making a long run, and the beasts are led out and allowed to run around for exercise. Then they are driven back to their cars and resume their journey.

Sheep are often unloaded within a few miles of their destination and turned loose to rest and feed until they are in good flesh. This is not done merely from motives of humanity. It has been found that the sheep are so much improved by it that they bring higher prices when they reach the market.

GEMS IN UNITED STATES.

One Regard in Which Our Natural Resources Are Deficient—Fine Stones Scarce.

"It is a little strange," said Irving L. Russell to a Washington Post reporter, "that the United States, so far ahead in national resources of every other part of the globe in all essential things, should be so deficient as a producer of precious stones. I am of the opinion that there will be a big discovery some day of the most valued gems, probably in some out of the way corner of the land.

"I do not mean to intimate that we are exactly destitute of fine stones, but that those found are mostly of inferior quality as compared with the output of the old mines. In North Carolina a good many emeralds and rubies and sapphires are to be had, but they are of not sufficient value to warrant cutting. Some very fine pearls have been taken out of the shells picked up in the streams of Arkansas, and at one time the search for them down there amounted to a craze. Pearls, by the way, have gone up in price from 200 to 300 per cent. in recent years.

"A great many semi-precious stones are mined in California, the turquoise found out there being especially beautiful, but lacking in hardness. Tourmalines also come from California in abundance."

PROSPERITY'S BAROMETER.

Salesman Says the Common Paper Bag the Grocers Use Is Reliable Trade Index.

"The paper bag, the kind the grocers use, you know, is the best barometer for registering the rise and fall of general prosperity," said the city salesman the other morning. "I have been selling paper bags for 26 years, and can refer to my old order books and tell you just about how much money there was in general circulation at any time since I have been toting that old paper case about the city.

"In 26 years I have closely watched the sales, and I want to say that I am selling bigger bags to grocers now than ever before. Along about 1894, and for three or four years afterward one pound and two pound bags were the most used. I now sell ten times as many eight pound bags as I did even six or seven years ago.

"You see, it stands to reason that when people have little money they will buy their groceries in small amounts. When there is plenty of money people buy more at a time. Of course, when the larger paper bags are sold it means that I won't sell so many of them, for people don't trot to the groceries so often."

Convict's Discovery.

Several months ago a man named Kurzpeski, having committed a serious offense, was sentenced to a long term of imprisonment in Germany, and since then the public heard nothing about him until the other day, when the news spread that he had discovered a cure for consumption which he claimed was infallible. In a letter to the minister of the interior, Kurzpeski gave a glowing account of the new remedy, stating that it had worked wonders on himself and others who are imprisoned with him at Luneburg, and requested to be set at liberty for a time in order that he might continue his investigations in a properly equipped laboratory. With this request the minister has not yet seen fit to comply, but he has thought the matter of such importance that he has instructed a committee of scientists to go to Luneburg and make a thorough test of the alleged remedy.

Lighthouse in a Desert.

There is at least one lighthouse in the world that is not placed on any mariner's chart. It is away out on the Arizona desert and marks the spot where a well supplies pure, fresh water to travelers. It is the only place where water may be had for 45 miles to the eastward and for at least 30 miles in any other direction. The "house" consists of a tall cottonwood pole, to the top of which a lantern is hoisted every night. The light can be seen for miles across the plain in every direction.

Many a forlorn maid has said this as she looked into the mirror. It is the one possession in the lottery of human life which woman would not refuse.

BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator

Land is Wealth

More than that—land is the sourse of all wealth. The ratio of population to acreage in the sliding scale upon which opportunity is gauged, success determined. Cut the number of land holders in any state in the Union in two, and what is the result? It's simple arithmetic—opportunities doubled in that State. What if three-fourths the population be eliminatep? Opportunities quadrupled; and so on. That's the condition in the great Southwest, Arkansas Indian Territory and Oklahoma. This vast territory is supporting less than one-fourth the population of its capacity. Fertile—a land where wheat and cotton thrive side by side—where two yearly vegetable crops are demonstrated possibilities—the greates fruit section in the country; but that's only half the story. The low ratio of population to acreagge makes land cheap—that's the main point. There's room for success in the great Southwest. Illustrated literature sent on request

Announcements

To the Voters of the Fifth Appelalte Court District of Kentucky

I am a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals from this District, subject to the action of the Democratic party. As Circuit Judge, it became my duty to try a number of criminal cases, which have become a part of the State's history and at a most critical time. As Judge of the State Fiscal Court, it fell to my lot to construe the Statutes adopted, to put in force the provisions of the new Constitution, as well as to construe the present Constitution whenever a controversy arose as to its proper construction. Almost innumerable cases have burdened the dockets of my court, touching the rights of corporations and the exercise of franchises under the law. How well I have discharged my duties under such trying circumstances, is left to you to determine.

I will be very grateful to all who feel they can assist me to secure the high position and office to which I aspire.

Very respectfully,
JAMES E. CANTRILL.
tf

John D. Carroll.

A Candidate for Appellate Judge in this District..

Hon. John D. Carroll, of New Castle, one of the best-known lawyers in the State, has announced as a candidate for Appellate Judge in this district, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Mr. Carroll's friends— especially in the legal profession— have for a long time desired to see him on the bench of the highest court in the State. He has held several offices of trust and honor, and in all of them acquitted himself with credit. When quite a young man he served two terms in the Legislature; was a member of the Constitutional Convention, and one of the three commissioners appointed by the Governor to revise the statute laws of the State to conform to the changes made by the constitution, and was for three years chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee. He is the editor of Carroll's Kentucky Codes of Practice and Carroll's Kentucky Statutes, lawbooks that are in general use and that may be found in the office of every lawyer in the State. A man of high integrity, great industry, with an extensive and accurate knowledge of the law, and in the prime of life, his large circle of friends believe he would make a splendid Judge.—Trimble Democrat. tf

PLAN TO END WAR.

AMERICAN SUGGESTS INTERCESSION BY UNITED STATES.

Consul at St. Petersburg Explains His Proposition—Says Czar Would Gladly Accept Our Good Offices.

There may come soon to the United States an opportunity for bringing to an end the war between Russia and Japan. That opportunity, if duly taken advantage of by the American executive, will result in removing all danger of misunderstanding between Washington and St. Petersburg, and in cementing the friendly relations which are traditional of the two countries. By one stroke the United States can do Russia a good turn and can benefit herself and the world at large.

This is the opinion of a hardheaded, practical man of business with exceptional advantages of forming a seasoned judgment. He is W. E. Smith, the consul general of the United States in St. Petersburg, who is at present in London. Mr. Smith says that Russia was surprised into war. Three weeks before the rupture of diplomatic relations a contract had been entered into for the electric lighting of Port Arthur. Russia could not now help going on with the fighting, but once she gained a victory on land her prestige would admit of her listening to pourparlers for peace. "Then," said Mr. Smith, "let the United States step in and proffer her good offices. Washington can do what no other government could attempt. It would not be a mistake, far from it, if the president were to send a special ambassador to St. Petersburg. He would be persona gratissima at the Russian court. The czar would meet him more than half way." Mr. Smith deplored the suspicions of Russia which appeared to be prevalent among a portion of the American press.

Some Americans seemed unable to understand the Muscovite diplomacy, just as the Russians were puzzled by the American straight-from-the-shoulder methods. Allowances ought to be made on both sides for the differences in national temperament. "It is in the interest of the United States," he continued, "to remain on the best of terms with Russia. As it is I think there is a deal of exaggeration in the reports sent to English papers of American sympathy for the Japanese. I do not question the existence of such sympathy, but I do believe the English correspondents magnify it in order to minimize the fact that among Americans there are many good friends of Russia."

Speaking of conditions in Russia, Mr. Smtih said he had just heard in letters from St. Petersburg that the current expenses over and above the military estimate in the budget amounted to $1,750,000 daily. He did not think Russia would need to have recourse to a foreign loan, but an internal loan probably would be necessary, but this would be easily raised, for there was a tremendous amount of money in the country. Moscow alone could furnish a good many millions.

ODD MARRIAGE RECORD.

Matrimonial Ventures of an Indiana Woman—Has Had Seven Husbands and They 21 Wives.

Miss Sophia Denton, of New Albany, Ind. (she still claiming her maiden name), a belle of Jackson county in the early '50's, has a marriage record that is unsurpassed. She has been married seven times, and her seven husbands have been married on an average of three times each.

The record has been brought to light by New Albany attorneys, who are prosecuting a pension claim for the woman. She is now 73 years old, and is for the seventh time a widow. Her home is in Jackson county, near Brownstown, and her entire life has been spent in Scott and Jackson counties. The attorneys decline to give her present name.

One of the peculiar features of the remarkable marriage record is that each time the woman has been married under her maiden name, Sophia Denton. It is known that at least three of her husbands have died.

She has drawn pensions at different times as the widow of two of her husbands, and her application for a third pension has brought about the present investigation.

NEW ADVERTISING SCHEME.

A Pennsylvania Minister Startles a Town, But Attracts a Crowd to Basket-Ball Game.

Perched on the seat of an undertaker's dead wagon, which was bedecked with glaring streamers announcing a basketball game the other night between a Philadelphia team and a local five, Rev. Julius F. Seebach, pastor of St. John's English Lutheran church of Mahanoy City, Pa., attracted considerable attention as he guided the high-spirited horses through the city streets.

As a result of this novel method of advertising indoor athletics a record-breaking audience turned out to witness the contest. The manager of the basketball team is a member of St. John's church, and worked hard for the success of a bazar recently held in aid of the church fund.

ARCHDUKE JOSEPH ELOPES.

Austrian Prince Runs Away with Plebeian Girl—Follows Lead of Brother and Sister.

Another of the grand duke of Tuscany's imperial and royal children has figured in a runaway love affair. Archduke Joseph Ferdinand has secretly married a beautiful Hungarian girl, the daughter of one Mitzko, who keeps a restaurant in Buda-Pesth.

The archduke fell in love with her, as many a young gallant of the town had done, and, following the example of several of his kinsmen, offered her honorable marriage, involving, as it did, the renouncing of his family privileges, which, however, amount to little as far as his possible succession to the crown of Austria is concerned.

Court officers tried in vain to dissuade and coerce the young archduke. A rumor of the marriage current recently was officially and truly denied.

Since then, however, the young pair have been made one. They went by night to a chapel near Poertschach, where they found a Friar Laurence willing to solemnize their union. It will be next to impossible to annul this religious marriage.

The runaway archduke is 32 years old, and is next younger in the family to Crown Princess Louise of Saxony, who eloped with the tutor, Giron. Their eldest brother, Leopold Ferdinand, eloped with an actress at the same time his sister ran off with Giron.

This latest hero of romance is named Joseph Ferdinand Salvator Francis Leopold Anthony Albert John the Baptist Charles Louis Rupert Mary Euxiliatrix, and he is a knight of the Spanish order of the Golden Fleece.

To the other punishments inflicted on Louise has been added an imperial decree taking away from her the right to be called an archduchess.

PATRIOTISM HARMFUL.

Maurice Maeterlinck, the Famous Mystic, Makes Singular Declaration as to Love of Country.

To the question: "Is patriotism incompatible with love of humanity?" Maurice Maeterlinck, the mystic, replies:

"The ideas that guide humanity ought to be respected only in proportion to the amount of good they do.

"The idea of a fatherland was long necessary. It is not yet completely useless. That fact indicates that the hour approaches when it will become harmful.

"It is the duty, then, of those who walk in advance of the unthinking masses to attack that idea from now on if they wish their descendants to find the sentiment enfeebled enough to be overthrown upon the day when men shall realize that it stands seriously in the way of man's evolutions.

"It is important to destroy, little by little, everything which tends to hamper the liberty of man, as if all men really deserved to be free. One knows, however, that they will not merit the freedom for several centuries after their deliverance. The harmonious use of liberty can only be learned through long abuse of its benefits."

Maeterlinck's singular opinions are only a step in advance of others given, with his, to a Paris review by eminent contributors.

Even Paul Deroulede, hot-headed nationalist that he is, assents in some degree to the suggestion involved in the question that patriotism and love of humanity are incompatible.

PLANS A DOG CEMETERY.

New York Woman Proposes to Lay Out Burial Place for Pet Canines.

Mrs. M. S. Stephens, of New York city, it is reported, has contracted for the purchase of five acres of land at Central Islip, L. I., which she proposes to lay out as a cemetery for the interment of blooded dogs. The tract, which is to be artistically laid out, will be purchased and held in the name of the Canine Idelwild Cemetery association.

For a long time, it is explained, owners of blooded dogs in New York have been at a loss to know where to bury their pets. To allow the public scavenger or any such person to cart off the bodies of their dead four-footed friends was repugnant, and Mrs. Stephens has originated the idea of purchasing the tract. Plots for the interment of dogs can be purchased where monumental stones can be erected with suitable inscriptions and the last resting place be kept green for all time.

Mrs. Stephens has arranged with a local contractor to remove the underbrush at once and the work of grading and laying out the grounds will begin as soon as the weather permits. It is understood that the project has the support of several New York millionaires who are owners of prize-winnig dogs.

A Respite.

What shall we do with our men? Wipe 'em out, kill 'em off, abolish 'em, says a stern Kansas prophetess. Humane hearts will hope that milder measures will be sufficient. In fact, there is a gleam of hope. At a meeting of the Housekeepers' Alliance the other week the good news was published that "men are supplanting girls along the lines of domestic service." So the "servant problem" is solved, remarks the New York Sun, and men folks have a respite and may even be useful.

Something to Be Thankful For.

Since the Japanese did not succeed in duplicating Hobson's act, remarks the Chicago Daily News, no Japanese hero will be obliged to kiss his way through the island on his return from the war.

Land is Wealth

More than that—land is the sourse of all wealth. The ratio of population to acreage in the sliding scale upon which opportunity is gauged, success determined. Cut the number of land holders in any state in the Union in two, and what is the result? It's simple arithmetic—opportunities doubled in that State. What if three-fourths the population be eliminatep? Opportunities quadrupled; and so on. That's the condition in the great Southwest, Arkansas Indian Territory and Oklahoma. This vast territory is supporting less than one-fourth the population of its capacity. Fertile—land where wheat and cotton thrive side by side—where two yearly vegetable crops are demonstrated possibilities—the greates fruit section in the country; but that's only half the story. The low ratio of population to acreage makes land cheap—that's the main point. There's room for success in the great Southwest. Illustrated literature sent on request

Announcements

To the Voters of the Fifth Appelalte Court District of Kentucky

I AM a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals from this District, subject to the action of the Democratic party. As Circuit Judge, it became my duty to try a number of criminal cases, which have become a part of the State's history and at a most critical time. As Judge of the State Fiscal Court, it fell to my lot to construe the Statutes adopted, to put in force the provisions of the new Constitution, as well as to construe the present Constitution whenever a controversy arose as to its proper construction Almost innumerable cases have burdened the dockets of my court, touching the rights of corporations and the exercise of franchises under the law. How well I have discharged my duties under such trying circumstances, is left to you to determine.

I will be very grateful to all who feel they can assist me to secure the high position and office to which I aspire.

Very respectfully,
JAMES E. CANTRILL.
tf

John D. Carroll.

A Candidate for Appellate Judge in this District..

Hon. John D. Carroll, of New Castle, one of the best known lawyers in the State, has announced as a candidate for Appellate Judge in this district, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Mr. Carroll's friends— especially in the legal profession— have for a long time desired to see him on the bench of the highest court in the State. He has held several offices of trust and honor, and in all of them acquitted himself with credit. When quite a young man he served two terms in the Legislature; was a member of the Constitutional Convention, and one of the three commissioners appointed by the Governor to revise the statute laws of the State to conform to the changes made by the constitution, and was for three years chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee. He is the editor of Carroll's Kentucky Codes of Practice and Carroll's Kentucky Statutes, lawbooks that are in general use and that may be found in the office of every lawyer in the State. A man of high integrity, great industry, with an extensive and accurate knowledge of the law, and in the prime of life, his large circle of friends believe he would make a splendid Judge.—Trimble Democrat. tf

PLAN TO END WAR.

AMERICAN SUGGESTS INTERCESSION BY UNITED STATES.

Consul at St. Petersburg Explains His Proposition—Says Czar Would Gladly Accept Our Good Offices.

There may come soon to the United States an opportunity for bringing to an end the war between Russia and Japan. That opportunity, if duly taken advantage of by the American executive, will result in removing all danger of misunderstanding between Washington and St. Petersburg, and in cementing the friendly relations which are traditional of the two countries. By one stroke the United States can do Russia a good turn and can benefit herself and the world at large.

This is the opinion of a hardheaded, practical man of business with exceptional advantages of forming a seasoned judgment. He is W. E. Smith, the consul general of the United States in St. Petersburg, who is at present in London. Mr. Smith says that Russia was surprised into war. Three weeks before the rupture of diplomatic relations a contract had been entered into for the electric lighting of Port Arthur. Russia could not now help going on with the fighting, but once she gained a victory on land her prestige would admit of her listening to pourparlers for peace. "Then," said Mr. Smith, "let the United States step in and proffer her good offices. Washington can do what no other government could attempt. It would not be a mistake, far from it, if the president were to send a special ambassador to St. Petersburg. He would be persona gratissima at the Russian court. The czar would meet him more than half way." Mr. Smith deplored the suspicions of Russia which appeared to be prevalent among a portion of the American press.

Some Americans seemed unable to understand the Muscovite diplomacy, just as the Russians were puzzled by the American straight-from-the-shoulder methods. Allowances ought to be made on both sides for the differences in national temperament. "It is in the interest of the United States," he continued, "to remain on the best of terms with Russia. As it is I think there is a deal of exaggeration in the reports sent to English papers of American sympathy for the Japanese. I do not question the existence of such sympathy, but I do believe the English correspondents magnify it in order to minimize the fact that among Americans there are many good friends of Russia."

Speaking of conditions in Russia, Mr. Smtih said he had just heard in letters from St. Petersburg that the current expenses over and above the military estimate in the budget amounted to $1,750,000 daily. He did not think Russia would need to have recourse to a foreign loan, but an internal loan probably would be necessary, but this would be easily raised, for there was a tremendous amount of money in the country. Moscow alone could furnish a good many millions.

ODD MARRIAGE RECORD.

Matrimonial Ventures of an Indiana Woman—Has Had Seven Husbands and They 21 Wives.

Miss Sophia Denton, of New Albany, Ind. (she still claiming her maiden name), a belle of Jackson county in the early '50's, has a marriage record that is unsurpassed. She has been married seven times, and her seven husbands have been married on an average of three times each.

The record has been brought to light by New Albany attorneys, who are prosecuting a pension claim for the woman. She is now 73 years old, and is for the seventh time a widow. Her home is in Jackson county, near Brownstown, and her entire life has been spent in Scott and Jackson counties. The attorneys decline to give her present name.

One of the peculiar features of the remarkable marriage record is that each time the woman has been married under her maiden name, Sophia Denton. It is known that at least three of her husbands have died.

She has drawn pensions at different times as the widow of two of her husbands, and her application for a third pension has brought about the present investigation.

NEW ADVERTISING SCHEME.

A Pennsylvania Minister Startles a Town, But Attracts a Crowd to Basket-Ball Game.

Perched on the seat of an undertaker's dead wagon, which was bedecked with glaring streamers announcing a basketball game the other night between a Philadelphia team and a local five, Rev. Julius F. Seebach, pastor of St. John's English Lutheran church of Mahanoy City, Pa., attracted considerable attention as he guided the high-spirited horses through the city streets.

As a result of this novel method of advertising indoor athletics a record-breaking audience turned out to witness the contest. The manager of the basketball team is a member of St. John's church, and worked hard for the success of a bazar recently held in aid of the church fund.

ARCHDUKE JOSEPH ELOPES.

Austrian Prince Runs Away with Plebeian Girl—Follows Lead of Brother and Sister.

Another of the grand duke of Tuscany's imperial and royal children has figured in a runaway love affair. Archduke Joseph Ferdinand has secretly married a beautiful Hungarian girl, the daughter of one Mitzko, who keeps a restaurant in Buda-Pesth.

The archduke fell in love with her, as many a young gallant of the town had done, and, following the example of several of his kinsmen, offered her honorable marriage, involving, as it did, the renouncing of his family privileges, which, however, amount to little as far as his possible succession to the crown of Austria is concerned.

Court officers tried in vain to dissuade and coerce the young archduke. A rumor of the marriage current recently was officially and truly denied.

Since then, however, the young pair have been made one. They went by night to a chapel near Poertschach, where they found a Friar Laurence willing to solemnize their union. It will be next to impossible to annul this religious marriage.

The runaway archduke is 32 years old, and is next younger in the family to Crown Princess Louise of Saxony, who eloped with the tutor, Giron. Their eldest brother, Leopold Ferdinand, eloped with an actress at the same time his sister ran off with Giron.

This latest hero of romance is named Joseph Ferdinand Salvator Francis Leopold Anthony Albert John the Baptist Charles Louis Rupert Mary Euxiliatrix, and he is a knight of the Spanish order of the Golden Fleece.

To the other punishments inflicted on Louise has been added an imperial decree taking away from her the right to be called an archduchess.

PATRIOTISM HARMFUL.

Maurice Maeterlinck, the Famous Mystic, Makes Singular Declaration as to Love of Country.

To the question: "Is patriotism incompatible with love of humanity?" Maurice Maeterlinck, the mystic, replies:

"The ideas that guide humanity ought to be respected only in proportion to the amount of good they do.

"The idea of a fatherland was long necessary. It is not yet completely useless. That fact indicates that the hour approaches when it will become harmful.

"It is the duty, then, of those who walk in advance of the unthinking masses to attack that idea from now on if they wish their descendants to find the sentiment enfeebled enough to be overthrown upon the day when men shall realize that it stands seriously in the way of man's evolutions.

"It is important to destroy, little by little, everything which tends to hamper the liberty of man, as if all men really deserved to be free. One knows, however, that they will not merit the freedom for several centuries after their deliverance. The harmonious use of liberty can only be learned through long abuse of its benefits."

Maeterlinck's singular opinions are only a step in advance of others given, with his, to a Paris review by eminent contributors.

Even Paul Deroulede, hot-headed nationalist that he is, assents in some degree to the suggestion involved in the question that patriotism and love of humanity are incompatible.

PLANS A DOG CEMETERY.

New York Woman Proposes to Lay Out Burial Place for Pet Canines.

Mrs. M. S. Stephens, of New York city, it is reported, has contracted for the purchase of five acres of land at Central Islip, L. I., which she proposes to lay out as a cemetery for the interment of blooded dogs. The tract, which is to be artistically laid out, will be purchased and held in the name of the Canine Idelwild Cemetery association.

For a long time, it is explained, owners of blooded dogs in New York have been at a loss to know where to bury their pets. To allow the public scavenger or any such person to cart off the bodies of their dead four-footed friends was repugnant, and Mrs. Stephens has originated the idea of purchasing the tract. Plots for the interment of dogs can be purchased where monumental stones can be erected with suitable inscriptions and the last resting place be kept green for all time.

Mrs. Stephens has arranged with a local contractor to remove the underbrush at once and the work of grading and laying out the grounds will begin as soon as the weather permits. It is understood that the project has the support of several New York millionaires who are owners of prize-winnig dogs.

A Respite.

What shall we do with our men? Wipe 'em out, kill 'em off, abolish 'em, says a stern Kansas prophetess. Humane hearts will hope that milder measures will be sufficient. In fact, there is a gleam of hope. At a meeting of the Housekeepers' Alliance the other week the good news was published that "men are supplanting girls along the lines of domestic service." So the "servant problem" is solved, remarks the New York Sun, and men folks have a respite and may even be useful.

Something to Be Thankful For.

Since the Japanese did not succeed in duplicating Hobson's act, remarks the Chicago Daily News, no Japanese hero will be obliged to kiss his way through the island on his return from the war.
